RECORDS SHOW L. A. COUNTY PROSPERITY

...lings With Recorder Hit High Mark, Indicating Business Is Good

Indicating a return of prosperity and financial and real estate activity to the high peak of January, 1924, total filings in the office of the county recorder during April, 1925 reached nearly 50,000 and touched the highest point in the history of Los Angeles county, according to a chart covering a period of thirteen years prepared by F. S. Balthis, manager of the plant department of the Title Guarantee & Trust Co. The chart was furnished here by A R. Eastman. of the Glendale State bank.

A gradual decrease in filings, the basis for all estimates of general business conditions, is indicated by the chart from January, 1912, with 13,000 for the month to March, 1918 when there were only about 9000 filings, the lowest point reached during the thirteen year period. Climbing in the following month to about 10,500, it dropped again within a thirty-day period to about 9250 and then began a steady increase in which there was no serious break until ...vember, 1920 when it fell from ...,000 to 17,250 in February, 1921.

Steady Increase

The increases since that time have been steady, although at times erratic. In January, 1922, the filings with the county recorder had reached about 26,500 and then they fell to 21,700 two months later. Beginning another abrupt climb filings increased steadily until June, 1923 with about 44,000 for the month. Dropping to about 36,000 four months later, with a few slight increases, the highest point in the history of the county was reached in January, 1924 with about 49,750 filings.

Then followed another slump during 1924. Filings decreased steadily in number until in August when only 35,750 documents were placed in the recorder's hands. A spurt followed that carried the filings to 42,000 in October. In January, 1925, they totaled 43,500, fell to 39,000 the following month and then began the longest, steadiest climb in the history of the county.

There has been no slump in the number of filings, but a remarkable steady and rapid increase since February. In March they passed the 47,500 mark. In May the filings totaled 49,750, equaling the record made in January, 1924.

The increase is still steady, and during May the number of filings are expected to set a new record.

...ntire Town Held Up By Gang of 10 Yeggs

KENTLAND, Ind., May 27.—The entire town of Brook, Ind., near here, was held at bay by a gang of ten bandits, while they smashed open the doors of the Brook State bank, opened the vault with a blast of nitroglycerine which shook the town, and escaped. Before beginning their activities, the bandits cut all telephone and telegraph wires and then raided the telephone company's office, putting the lone operator to flight after he had attempted to arouse the village with the electric fire siren already put out of commission by the robbers. Brook has about 1200 inhabitants.

Fall, Doheny and Sinclair Reindicted in Oil Tangle

WASHINGTON, May 27.—Former Secretary of the Interior Albert B. Fall and the oil magnates, E. L. Doheny and Harry F. Sinclair were indicted here again today by a federal grand jury for alleged conspiracy to defraud the government in the California and Wyoming naval oil leases.

This is the second time the three men have been indicted on the same charge. The first indictment was dismissed by the District of Columbia supreme court because unauthorized persons were in the grand jury room while the inquiry was being made.

Edward L. Doheny, Jr., was not included by the grand jury, although he previously had been indicted. The indictments are the outgrowth of the Senate oil lease investigation a year ago.

BIRTH CONTROL ADVOCATED BY RABBI

Priest In Answer At Social Conference Advocating 'Self Control'

SACRAMENTO, May 27.—Increase of the already alarming number of "unfit" can be prevented by adoption of practical birth control, Dr. Rudolph Coffee, Oakland rabbi, declared in a debate with Rev. Robert E. Lucey of the bureau of Catholic charities of Los Angeles, before the California Conference of Social Work.

"Abortion is murder," said Dr. Coffee, "and birth control rejects it. Birth control proposes dissemination of contraceptive knowledge which will be legal and decent and safeguarded by medical certificates as advocated in the Cummins-Vaile bill now before Congress.

"Unfit to survive in California now are costing the state $8,000,000 annually and this situation can be remedied only by adoption of birth control," said Rabbi Coffee.

Rev. Father Lucey said what was wanted was not birth control but self control. The clergyman denied that large families were a detriment.

"Give the workers a decent wage and the family problem is solved," said Rev. Lucey. "Birth control is anti-social."

The conference will take a vote on the problem today.

Superior Judge Malcolm P. Glenn of Sacramento county attacked the I. W. W. as an organization trying to overthrow the government and upheld the criminal syndicalism act, which he said was designed to prevent sabotage, or destruction of property wilfully and maliciously.

He declared the I. W. W. a body which has nothing in common with labor unions, which during the war rallied to the flag, while the I. W. W. did all in its power to aid the enemy.

Austin Lewis, San Francisco attorney, said the syndicalism act was directly opposed to the constitution in that it punished a citizen for holding an opinion. He declared 140 men had been imprisoned in California who had not even been accused of any crime but simply because they held an opinion.

ITALY MOVES TO PAY OFF WAR DEBT

Italian Ambassador, Mellon Discuss Funding Plan; No Definite Action

By H. K. REYNOLDS
For International News Service.

WASHINGTON, May 27.—A slight rift in the foreign debt clouds was seen today in the opening of a series of conversations here between the Italian ambassador and Secretary of the Treasury Mellon on the funding of Italy's $2,000,000,000 debt to the United States. As Italy was looked upon by the government as one of the nations which probably was marking time until France had made a concrete debt-paying proposal, the visit of Baron G. De Martino to the treasury department was hailed with considerable satisfaction in administration circles.

The ambassador made no definite move, however, toward the initiation of debt funding negotiations, limiting his conversation with the chairman of the American debt funding commission to a discussion of the foreign debt act under which the commission is operating and the economic problems confronting the Italian government in connection with the settlement of inter-allied debts.

From Secretary Mellon he obtained assurances of the desire of President Coolidge and his cabinet to deal fairly with all the European debtors, but was told that the government was determined to push to a conclusion the present drive for the collection of all outstanding war debts.

A report on the attitude of the United States has been cabled to Rome by the ambassador and it is stated that he will now let the matter rest pending instructions from his government. Further assurance that the country as a whole is fully in sympathy with the Coolidge debt campaign was brought to Washington today by Representative William R. Wood of Indiana, chairman of the Republican National Congressional committee, who, returning from a tour of the middle west, said:

"The administration's policy of insisting that the European debtor nations enter into funding arrangements for the payment of the war debt to the United States is everywhere approved. The people understand that the payment of these debts would result naturally in reductions of federal taxes."

LONG BEACH, L. I., May 27.—Macdonald Smith stepped into the lead this afternoon in the first day of the eastern qualifying trials with a smashing 70, so cleverly executed that predictions ran high that it would not be bettered before sundown. Hagen started out at 1:30, coupled with Henry Ciuci, with practically the entire gallery at his heels. Among the early returns, the scores of Francis Ouimet and Freddy McLean, both former champions, and Martin J. O'Loughlin, Plainfield, N. J., stood out. New Anti-Toxin to Check Scarlet Fever Discovered

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., May 27.—X-Ray is being used successfully in the treatment of whooping cough, infants can be cured of rickets by feeding them certain foods treated by sun rays or x-rays and scarlet fever can be prevented and cured by a new anti-toxin, speakers told the American Medical association's convention today.

Dr. Lawrence W. Smith of Boston said that x-ray can shorten the duration and lessen the severity of whooping cough. Rickets is due to a lack of vitamin which can be supplied by natural or artificial means, Dr. Smith said.

Dr. W. S. Park of New York told of the new scarlet fever antitoxin. The need of more rigid and general meat inspection was urged upon the convention by Dr. W. H. Lipman of Chicago. RIFFS RECRUITING AMONG GERMANS

With Skin Stained Brown, Teutons Leave To Join Riffs Versus French

PARIS, May 27.—The Riffs launched a reckless bayonet attack with religious zeal against the French positions on the heights of Bibane, according to News Agency reports from Fez today but were repulsed with heavy losses.

The Riffians' plan was to prevent a detachment of General Feral's troops, ordered from the Bibane plateau from joining the general concentration of French troops under General Colombat, further to the east.

The Riffs are recruiting in Germany, according to reports circulated in Paris. One hundred and forty-seven young Germans, members of a secret military society, were said to have left Germany with their skin already stained a dusky brown.

Foreign Minister Briand today received Quinones De Leon, the Spanish ambassador, and informed him that the French cabinet had approved the negotiations with Spain regarding Morocco.

France will ask the international conference on arms traffic, in session at Geneva, to declare a neutral zone around the Riffs in Morocco, according to today's L'Intransigeant.

REAL SERVICE

Service, cheerful service, as understood in the modern world today, is not a commodity, and therefore, is not sold in the open market, where it can be purchased at will. It is that almost intangible something, which can hardly be classified or defined, that is given freely and willingly without the desire or purpose of securing a reward. Though it comes with the commodity, it is not part of the purchase; it is contributed intelligence; it is the helping hand; it is good will reversed, something going out from one person to the other; it is of the spirit, and from the spirit, and it is the finest thing to conceive of. To those who render true service, they are the real servants of their fellowmen.

LEGAL BATTLE ON TRACKS PLANNED

Commerce Chamber Urges Fight On Lower Rates; Level Right of Way

Glendale will shortly plunge into a double legal tilt with the Pacific Electric Railway Co., if recommendations made late yesterday by the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce are carried out by the City Council. The chamber voted unanimously to recommend:

1—That the city retain legal talent to immediately place this city's request for lower interurban fares to Los Angeles before the State Railroad commission.

2—That the city institute condemnation proceedings against the Pacific Electric in order to effect lowering and paving of the right-of-way the full length of Brand boulevard.

Action of the directors in urging that the fight for lower fares be carried to the State Railroad commission followed a report to the board on recent negotiations between City Manager Virgil B. Stone and D. W. Pontius, vice-president and general manager and Frank Karr, legal adviser of the Pacific Electric.

These negotiations for an amicable settlement of the rate question have terminated in utter failure with refusal of the railway to consider any alteration of fares at this time, the report stated.

Stone's request to the Pacific Electric was that the railway company assist Glendale in getting lower fares by entering a joint request with the city for a reduction in rates before the railroad commission.

Funds Appropriated

Such a report was made to the City Council by Manager Stone, its was declared, at an executive session of that body on May 7. No further action has been taken by the council as yet, however.

Funds for the retention of an attorney to represent the city before the railroad commission have been appropriated and are now in the city treasury awaiting further action on the part of the council.

Depression of the Pacific Electric right-of-way on both North and South Brand boulevard, removal of the existing curbs from the center of the street, and paving of the right-of-way its full length, will be sought through condemnation proceedings, if the recommendation of the Chamber of Commerce is carried into effect.

That there is positively no possibility of the Pacific Electric

Re-elected

MRS. A. H. MONTGOMERY, chosen president of the Tuesday Afternoon club for second year.

Mrs. A. H. Montgomery, who has served the Tuesday Afternoon club as president during the past year, was re-elected president at the annual election held yesterday at the clubhouse. There were 366 votes cast during the election hours, 10 to 3 o'clock. Mrs. John Robert White, Jr., who has been first vice-president during the past year, was the other candidate for the presidency.

Directors chosen were: Mrs. T. H. Hudson and Mrs. A. M. Hunt. Mrs. C. J. Higgins was the third candidate for directorship. The two women chosen will succeed Mrs. H. E. Bartlett and Mrs. E. B. Sutton, whose terms expire. Other members of the board of directors are: Mesdames Mabel Franklin Ocker, S. C. Packer, B. O. Holbrook and Lillian Dow.

Other officers elected without competition are: Mrs. Claude G. Putnam, first vice-president, to succeed Mrs. White; Mrs. E. S. McKee, second vice-president, to succeed Mrs. Homer D. Lockwood, who declined nomination for re-election; Mrs. Chester O. Kling, recording secretary; Mrs. H. C. Wilcox, corresponding secretary; Mrs. A. R. Chappell, treasurer.

Busy Day for Club

Election activity and the press luncheon combined in making yesterday a busy day at the clubhouse. Account of the press luncheon was given in yesterday's edition of The Glendale Evening News.

Mrs. A. H. Montgomery, club president, presided over the afternoon meeting. Speakers were: Peter Hanson, who read his paper on "Better Homes"; Mrs. Gillespie, district chairman of Indian welfare, who made a plea for the American Indians, particularly the Indians in California; Mrs. Lyman B. START PETITIONS TO WIDEN STREET

Crossing At Palmer Avenue Depends Upon Paving And Improvements

Petitions for widening of the roadway and improvement of Palmer avenue to obtain a grade crossing over the Pacific Electric under a recent order of the State Railroad commission are being circulated among property owners along the street, and will be presented to the City Council for action within the next few weeks.

Proponents of the proposed improvement have met with but little opposition, it was said today, with the exception of a few owners who were under a misapprehension that the plans included widening of the entire street and condemnation of private property to obtain additional right-of-way. The present right-of-way will not be widened, it was pointed out, although the curbs will be moved back and sidewalks made slightly narrower to provide for a forty-foot paved roadway.

Easement for the crossing of the Pacific Electric and opening of the street across the tracks has already been received by the city, but the crossing cannot be placed until the street has been improved its entire length. When completed the street will be a through thoroughfare, carrying heavy traffic from San Fernando road across Glendale to York boulevard.

War In Filmdom Circles

By MARIAN MARSHALL
For Southland News Service.

HOLLYWOOD, May 27.—The string is taut on the latchkeys of Hollywood studios; pulses are beating high; executives are in almost constant conferences; and rumblings from within soon will be unleashed like a Pandora box and the big fight will be on!

Be it known that a fight to a finish in the films is not far distant. Uncle Carl Laemmle, Adolph Zukor, and the Warner Brothers, headed by H. M. Warner among others on the side of the independents; Will Hays and his gang, including Joseph Schenck, Louis B. Mayer, Marcus Loew and their friends, who call themselves the Motion Picture Producers association, conducting a counter-offensive.

Free trade is the issue and the independent exhibitors are due to be ground by the upper and nether millstones until the bird of peace flutters over the two armed camps.

War Fund Ready

Just who will play the role of "dove" is unknown at this writing, but the best bet in the world is Uncle Sam. After the millionaire movie magnates have spent their choice assortment of nickels and dimes in building playhouses, establishing exchanges, and otherwise making life miserable for the individual who has invested his money in a theatre at Lonesometown, there is no question but what the federal government will start the long sought investigation of who's who and why.

At Milwaukee the handful of independent exchange operators and several large exhibitors, who have been unable to obtain First National franchises, tossed upwards of $5,000,000 into a jackpot and said "Fight." That is just what the older heads of the bigger combines wanted. It gives them opportunity for ruthless invasion of all fields and along comes Messrs. Mayer and Schenck, probably seconded by Mr. Lasky, and they say "We have $25,000,000 ready to spend in new theatres."

Plan Theatres

However, Warner Brothers already have started on a program of theatre construction entailing $5,000,000 and Laemmle can do better than that. Besides the independents can inveigle local capitalists to carry their loans while the combined interests have to depend on New York and Los Angeles financiers who crave the first ten cents of every dollar. From the standpoint of business, the independents have the edge. That's why they are feared. In the meantime production is at its peak in the studios here.

Famous Players-Lasky have purchased film rights to Zane Grey's

GIVE RESULTS OF SCHOOL ELECTION

Jerome Andrews Unopposed In Race For President; Other Officers

Jerome Andrews, popular Glendale High student and speaker for the junior class at the last annual oratoracle, was given a 'vote of confidence" yesterday in the semesterly elections held at the two high schools. His only opponent, Read Stearman, was out of the running through qualification developments. The large vote he polled, however, proves that his election is by all means popular.

Fred Fallis, former junior class president, won the position of secretary of assemblies. He promises "A Movie a Week," his campaign slogan, and is out to fulfill his promise as well as provide some high class entertainment for the students.

Madeline Corvin was elected secretary of state, and Helen Hone secretary of finance. Both were recommended by the commercial department of the school and will work hard to fulfill their more or less difficult duties.

Other Officers

Walton Andrews will be next editor of the school annual, the Stylus. His victory was the result of his popularity and he won with an overwhelming vote. Glenn Cunningham nosed out Ward Foultz for the office of secretary of publications and will be editor of the Stylus for the coming fall.

James Sargent is the new secretary of debating. He won over Jean Henry by small plurality. Bill Kirk, the only candidate for yell leader, was given a healthy vote. Daisy Whitsell and George Laas won the positions of secretary of girls' and boys' athletics, respectively, both after close races. The results of the balloting:

Daily Greeting to News Readers

THE DAYS ARE NEVER LONG—
For the man who is in love with his work.
If we go to our tasks with a song.
When we can see success at the end of the trail.
If we are storing our minds with new ideas.
When we can look every man in the face unafraid.
For the man who harbors no envy or malice.
While the heart of a man is light.

WORLD'S GREATEST TALKERS

The United States is doing most of the world's talking. In this country there are annually 175 conversations for each individual. That means that everyone uses the telephone once in every two days. The most of us who have the telephone as a regular part of our daily lives use it much more than this, which means that there are still thousands of people who do not use it all. This indicates that a tremendous increase in the number of people in this country into whose daily lives the telephone is going to come is inevitable. The telephone business has a marvelous future before it, with nothing in sight to take its place. Of course there will be new and improved ways of using it. Radio experts declare that wireless telephony will not be general or practical, but we can see in our mind's eye the streets and roads as they will look without the unsightly poles and wires. We cannot but believe that wireless telephony will be the thing in the near future.

Ten years ago we would not have believed that a concert or lecture given at a certain point would be heard in homes all over the country, but this is true today, and the telephone has been used more than once to help make it come true. Now, photographs are coming over the telephone, and tomorrow, they say, we shall actually see the person to whom we are speaking, and the people to whose performance we are listening over the radio. Baseball fans will gather, not to hear the scores of the world series games, as they do now, but to actually see the games.

The nearest country to the United States in the average use of the telephone is Denmark. It has an average of 120 calls per capita a year. Then the number drops to 20 for Great Britain and 18 for France.

These figures may be significant as an evidence that we are the most talkative of the nations. But they mean more. They mean that our commercial and industrial and social life is more rapid and progressive. They mean accomplishment.

There are millions of telephone calls in this country over private lines that are not included in these figures, far more than in any other country. If these were counted the difference would be much greater.

AVIATION CENTER

The United States has been slow in seeing the possibilities in commercial aviation, but from all appearances we are about ready to take it up with that enthusiasm peculiar to Americans. And once we get to going we will soon overtake those countries that have such a long start ahead of us in the use of aircraft for business purposes.

When we stop to think how the automobile industry has come to be one of the greatest, if not the greatest, in the country, try to conceive of the number of people who are making a livelihood from the manufacture, sale and use of the automobile and accessories, and when we realize how many kinds of business and industry are allied with the automobile and its use, then we can get some idea of what the development of aviation will mean to this country.

People are slow to leave the ground, but when once they learn that they are reasonably safe in the air they will be as quick to adapt themselves to air transportation as they were to make use of the automobile.

Glendale is singularly fortunate in being made the aviation center of the west this early in the game. Through the election of Dr. T. C. Young, president, and Howard I. Wood, secretary, fo the Western Aero league, the selection of Glendale as a place of publication of a magazine devoted to aviation, and the location of an aeroplane factory here, all eyes in western aero circles are turned this way. And all this has come about, not through any concerted community effort, but solely through one or two public-spirited, forward-looking citizens.

EQUITABLE TAXATION

Whenever the Mellon plan for the reduction of surtaxes is mentioned there is always someone to cry, "Big business is behind that."

Big business may be behind the Mellon plan, but justice is back of it, too. A legitimate tax upon a man's income or the income of a firm is right, but taxes piled on top of taxes never was fair or just and never did any nation any good.

As long as money is taxed so heavily that men hesitate to embark in any business undertaking that might net a profit, just so long will money be kept out of business. If we are to have capital for the business uses of the country and for new development there must be an incentive for capitalists to make investments.

A man will not risk his money unless there is a chance for a return on his investment. It is no use to expect him to do so. After he pays the government a fair return on his business he should have a right to his profits without having to pay another heavy tax. Inequitable taxation is holding the country back in its legitimate development.

FOR MOTHER

In striking contrast to the girl in San Francisco who is accused of killing her mother is the one in Riverdale, Ill., who killed for her mother. It has often been pointed out that any love but mother love is selfish; there is no sacrifice that a mother will not make if her child's good or happiness is at stake. One of the most talked-of books of the year deals with a mother, a divorced woman, who gave up her daughter to her husband's second wife—because it was for the girl's good. And since motherhood is so willing to make sacrifices there is scarcely a sin in the world so hideous as ingratitude on the part of children toward their mother. On the other hand any heroic act on the part of a child for the mother is worthy of admiration. The little Wunsch girl took a human life, but on every side her act is condoned because her victim deserved no better fate and because she did it for her mother. If the incident results in the reconciliation of the parents it will not have been in vain.

If the summer girl's costume is weighed in the balance there won't be much wear and tear on the balance.

THE MODERN GULLIVER!

The Outlook

By DR. FRANK CRANE

Every man should raise his eyes once in a while from his immediate work and see what lies around him.

The only use we can find for the sky is to furnish us an outlook.

There is something inspiring in a distant view, and there is something inspiring too in looking at the world and at what other people are doing that have no concern with us. This enables us to keep our proper bearings. We magnify too much the work in which we are engaged, and we do not see it in its proper relation to other things.

Very frequently when the mind has wandered into the fields round about it returns refreshed to its immediate task.

A man must have not only something to do, some task to which he is devoting his best efforts, but he needs some diversion. Occasionally the mind is rested by devoting it to something else.

We should study concentration and attention, but such things should not be overdone.

In looking for something it is better to look around rapidly and promiscuously than to look steadily in one place.

The world, we are told, is "full of a number of things," and there may be something that will crop up that will be of great benefit to us.

We should not only watch our job, but we should have an eye on events.

In this as in most things there is a balance to be maintained. We must devote a certain energy to the task in front of us and devote attention to the things around us, and these must be kept properly balanced.

Very frequently a man gets an exalted opinion of himself. He thinks of himself too highly when he does not look at the world around him. To observe the stars and to think that we are inhabitants of just a little speck floating in the vast heavens impresses upon us our nothingness.

Every cult and sect is apt to consider itself the most important thing in the universe. It is one of the advantages of travel that shows us how many other things the world is concerned in and how many different kinds of people the great Ruler of the Universe has to manage.

A man should think of himself and of his own affairs as having some importance, but he should not give them too much emphasis. There is the world to be thought of and one's relation to it.

Horoscope

Uranus in benefic aspect dominate today, according to astrology. Venus is adverse.

It is an exceedingly confusing sway for love affairs since women may be inclined to deceive and men to woo.

There is a promising sign for aviation which certainly will make tremendous progress within the year, for airplanes are to become everyday carriers of passengers as well as mail.

Again the planets are supposed to be helpful to all psychic investigation and spiritualists are to come into a new appraisal among religionists, it is foretold.

This is read as an unlucky wedding day, for he who marries under this direction of the stars may expect to be often the victim of double dealing.

This is not a favorable day for theatres and places of amusement and actresses should be exceedingly wise in conducting their affairs while the present government prevails.

The moon enters Leo a fixed masculine barren sign ruled by the sun and it governs the heart sides and upper part of the back.

Petrograd next month will come under a sway said to be promising for better conditions among the Russians.

Measures affecting children and their education will be pushed in many states, for the aspcets indicate that the value of the rising generation is to be recognized as never before.

Crimes against women are to be numerous all through the summer and there will be many futile efforts to stem the tide of evil, which is to rise until there is a united movement to combat it.

Increase in the birthdate is foretold, although, there are to be dire prophesies of the future of native Americans.

For the summer the Pacific coast is to enjoy many activities that swell commerce. Great numbers of tourists will visit California and British Columbia, it is foretold.

Changeable and variable weather will mark the summer season in certain parts of the United States. Severe and unexpected storms are foreseen.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a busy and successful year.

Children born on this day should be endowed with unusual mentality. These subjects of Gemini are likely to have at least two conspicuous talents.

Today's Poem

A LANDSCAPE IN BERKSHIRE

Thou see'st the dawn's grave orange hue,
With one pale streak like yellow sand,
And over that a vein of blue.

The air is cold above the woods;
All silent is the earth and sky,
Except with his own lonely moods
The blackbird holds a colloquy.

Over the broad hill creeps a beam.
Like hope that gilds a good man's brow;
And now ascends the nostril-stream
Of stalwart horses come to plough.

Ye rigid ploughmen, bear in mind
Your labour is for future hours;
Advance—spare not—nor look behind—
Plough deep and straight with all your powers!

The Best of Advice

By CLARK KINNAIRD

CLARK KINNAIRD

There is a saying, attributed originally to one of the popes, that when misfortune happens to us, the blame of it, at least to some degree, attaches to ourselves.

If this is not true in every instance, it is certainly true in most cases.

This explains, perhaps, the effort persons make, as far as possible to conceal their misfortunes, and to put the best face they can upon them.

"Give mature and repeated consideration to any plan before you proceed to carry it out; and even after you have thoroughly turned it over in your mind, make some concession to the incompetency of human judgment; for it may always happen that circumstances which cannot be investigated or foreseen will come in and upset the whole of your calculation."

This is a reflection that will always influence the negative side of the balance—a kind of warning to refrain from unnecessary action in matters of importance, as one thoughtful German puts it.

"But, having made up your mind and begun your work, you must let it run its course and abide the results—not worry yourself by fresh reflections on what is already accomplished, or by a renewal of your scruples on the score of possible danger; free your mind from the subject altogether, and refuse to go into it again, secure that you gave it mature attention at the proper time."

* * *

And if, notwithstanding that, you fail, it is because all human affairs are the sport of chance and error.

* * *

If we have made obvious mistakes, we should not try, as we generally do, to gloss them over, or to find something to excuse or extenuate them; we should admit to ourselves that we have committed faults, and open our eyes wide to all their enormity, in order that we may firmly resolve to avoid them again.

To be sure, that means a great deal of self-inflicted pain, in the shape of discontent, but it should be remembered that to spare the rod is to spoil the child.

Who's Who

Richard T. Harris, at the age of 45 has been elected president of the New York Cotton Exchange and now looms as one of Wall street's leading figures.

Harris hails from Texas where he and his brothers were for a good many years interested in the production of cotton. He started his career humbly as a newspaper boy. Later he shifted to the job of messenger and subsequently he and his brothers became interested in the cotton game. From Texas their activities shifted to New York and in the course of time Harris and his brothers organized the cotton house of New York which they now control. He is one of the youngest men ever nominated to the presidency of the New York Cotton Exchange.

Commissioner Inspects Building Loans Here

A. E. Falch, state building and loan commissioner, visited the Glendale Building and Loan association today. His visit to Glendale is in line with his plan to visit all the building and loan associations of California this year. Mr. Falch is much pleased with the splendid work done by the local association in urging people to begin systematic saving to achieve ownership of homes.

"The Golden State Building and Loan association, Charles N. Elder, secretary, is an institution of which the people of Glendale and the surrounding district well may be proud. It is doing much good work in the upbuilding of this community. Los Angeles county still retains a heavy lead both in the number of associations and volume of assets," stated Mr. Falch. "Like other building and loan associations of California, the Los Angeles county associations are making a remarkable progress and are leaders in the movement of community upbuilding. Many new homes have been built in Los Angeles county through the assistance of the forty-three associations, and hundreds of people have become better citizens through the lessons of thrift and saving which they have taught as members of the associations.

"All of these associations have made a wonderful growth during the past year, showing that Los Angeles county is forging ahead in the building and loan movement. The combined assets of these associations in 1924 were $47,411,824, as compared with their present assets of $58,740,157, a gain of $11,328,333. There are now 160 building and loan associations in California, as compared with 138 associations a year ago. The total assets of these associations will be about $143,000,000.

COUNCIL TO PASS ON SLOT VENDORS

Five-Cent Machines May Be Licensed If Favorable To City Fathers

An ordinance permitting 5-cent slot-vending machines in Glendale will be before the City Council at its meeting tomorrow for second reading, and, if adopted, will probably be in effect late next month.

At the present time no vending machine in which more than 1-cent can be inserted, that gives merchandise chips in addition to merchandise, is permitted in the city. A fair value of merchandise for each coin placed in the machine is required.

The 5-cent vending machines have been the cause of considerable controversy throughout the state, and in Santa Barbara an injunction was recently granted by the superior court, it is reported, prohibiting their operation in that city.

License Required

Under the provisions of the ordinance as it will be read tomorrow a license must be obtained direct from the City Council for operation of all vending machines for which more than 1-cent is required, and which give checks in addition to merchandise. A license fee of $15 per quarter must also be paid on each machine. No machine that requires more than 5 cents will be permitted.

Applications for license to operate machines, if the ordinance is finally adopted, must be presented to the city clerk, who must refer them to the council for action.

WAR RELICS WILL GRACE CITY PARK

City Accepts Washington's Offer Of German Guns Used In Argonne

Two pieces of captured war ordnance, a German .77 and an Austrian .88, the most vicious artillery that faced the Americans in the Argonne, will probably be placed in one of Glendale's parks some time this summer. A telegram was sent to the war department at Washington today by City Manager V. B. Stone accepting the offer of the department of war ordnance at the request of members of the City Council.

The big guns are given without cost to the city, although freight must be paid. The gift will include both guns and carriage, weighing about 3000 pounds each.

While the German .77 and Austrian .88 were not the largest field pieces employed against the Americans, they were by far the most dangerous to field troops. Quick firing, they corresponded with the famous French .75's. Larger calibre shells did more physical damage when they exploded, but troops could hear them coming through the air and in many instances could get out of their way. The .77's and .88's, however, killed and wounded more of the American troops than almost any other type of weapon in the Argonne.

WATER DISTRICT MAY REORGANIZE

Crescenta Mutual Co. Board Of Directors Outlines Needs of Future

Reorganization of the Crescenta Mutual Water Co., supplying water to the Montrose-La Crescenta district, comprising about 1200 acres, must soon be made by annexation to some existing city, by incorporating as a city or by organizing as a county water district, directors of that company have announced in a statement issued to all stockholders.

While it is believed there is an adequate supply of water to meet the demands of the coming summer, and probably of next year if there is no general drought, the directors declare "unless a reorganization and re-financing is effected within from two to three years adequate development of water cannot be guaranteed on account of limited finances."

While the directors have no jurisdiction in the matter of reorganization, they point out, the water company can only continue to carry on the affairs of the company as at present "pending any action that may be taken by the property owners in the district."

Favor Annexation

Annexation to Glendale or incorporation as a city are the two methods most favored, it is claimed. Directors of the water company are W. R. Scully, Andrew M. Brown, C. L. Mead, W. D. Salisbury and W. M. Mills. An annexation movement has already been started in Montrose and Verdugo City.

Starting in 1920 with a capital investment of $16,500, the water company has an investment at the present time of over $118,000. In August, 1920, there were 158 connections made. In April of this year 960 house connections were completed.

"For some time past the directors of the company have realized that we are outgrowing the sphere or purpose of a mutual water company," said members of the board, "and if this section is to continue to grow and prosper in the future as it has in the past, the water situation must be given very serious thought or it might possibly interfere with the natural growth of the community.

Study Situation

"The results of studies made for the company by competent engineers lead us to believe that there are sufficient undeveloped water resources available to take care of the demand for several additional years of normal growth. However, it is a certainty that if the distsict continues to grow and develop as it has in the past four or five years that a considerable outlay of additional money will be necessary for further water development, including wells, pumps and equipment and especially for larger mains throughout the entire district, not only in such streets as are now without any pipe lines, but to replace several miles of two-inch pipe lines which are even now becoming inadequate as to size in several localities. The directors also feel that the company should provide adequate mains for fire hydrants as rapidly as its financial resources will permit and as construction of homes and stores demands. At the present time there are no mains of sufficient size to permit proper fire protection in the Montrose business district.

"In the past few years sale of stock, particularly to subdividers, has carried the financial burden of the water company, but it appears at the present time there will not be as much subdividing activity within the district nor will there be a sufficient sale of stock to individuals to provide the proper funds for continued development of the water company.

"The directors are agreed that the ultimate and desirable thing to do is to effect a reorganization so as to compel all land in the district to carry its fair share of the development and distribution of water. This can be done by incorporating as a city or annexation to some existing city."

WAR TROPHIES TO BE GIVEN CITIES

Adjutant General Of State Announces Distribution In Near Future

SACRAMENTO, May 27.—Hundreds of captured World war trophies will be distributed among California communities in the near future, Adjutant General R. E. Mittelstaedt, commander of the California National Guard, announced today.

General Mittelstaedt will act as distributing agent in California for the federal government, it was stated, and application for any of the coveted trophies, which range from monster field guns and mortars to rifles and helmets, must be made to his office in Sacramento on or before June 1.

Trophies will be distributed according to the comparative number of men participating in the World war from the different communities of the state, although each community desiring to share in the distribution will be given an equal opportunity to secure trophies for their museums, memorial halls and parks regardless of size.

Entitled to Share

Civic organizations, as well as cities and countries are entitled to share in the distribution of the war prizes, General Mittelstaedt said.

Here are a few of the war implements ready for distribution:

Five 250-mm. minnewerfers, on wheels; one 210-mm. mortar and carriage; four 170-mm. minnewerfers, with wheels; five 150-mm. howitzers; a sundry assortment of other long-range field pieces; German and Austrian rifles; machine guns; anti-tank and anti-aircraft guns, sabers, lances, helmets, bayonets, canteens, etc.

lowering the tracks of their own accord, and that, as the tracks through Glendale travel over a private right-of-way owned by the company there is no remedy excepting condemnation, were the declarations of Director W. L. Truitt in urging such proceedings as the only means of getting the tracks lowered and paved.

"No other one thing is hindering the progress of Glendale from a business and commercial standpoint," Director Truitt said, "more than this barrier running down the middle of the main street. The Pacific Electric is now asking the city to buy the same land that was given to the road by the city years ago."

Efforts Are Cited

Efforts of W. E. Evans, Mattison B. Jones, Bert P. Woodard and others, who have fought for the lowering of the tracks in the past without avail, were pointed to by Director Truitt as conclusive proof that nothing would be done toward lowering the tracks unless legal steps are taken.

The assistance of the Glendale Traffic commission in preliminary work prior to the institution of condemnation proceedings will be sought by the Chamber of Commerce in its effort to have the tracks depressed, it was stated.

The formal request of the chamber for immediate legal action on lower fares and depression of the electric line's right-of-way will be prepared and presented to the City council in time for action next week.

CHRISTIE REACHES ZENITH IN FILM

'Charley's Aunt' At Glendale Theatre, Funniest Farce Ever Produced

Al Christie and his organization have been making people laugh in the movies probably longer than any single producer of comedies, having started making films way back in the days when a "feature" was 500 feet of film.

For thirteen years Al Christie has been continuously producing comedies, and now in "Charley's Aunt," a seven reel feature comedy, he has reached the high point of his career.

"Charley's Aunt" from the famous old stage farce that has been running steadily for thirty-three years, goes back even further than Christie, even, in getting the laughs. It closes a five-day showing at the Glendale theatre tomorrow night. It is the one stage farce that has stood the test of time. Now that it has become a film, critics are unanimous in declaring it the funniest movie ever made.

Play Still Remembered

That it would be screamingly funny was expected, for the play is still remembered by those who laughed at it years ago. In addition to the material of the famous play by Brandon Thomas, Christie gives most of the credit to Scott Sidney who is one of the old standby directors in the Christie studio, to Syd Chaplin, the star and the supporting cast.

HYPNOTIST ENDS PROGRAM HERE

Gilbert The Great To Give Unusual Performance At Cosmo Tonight

The Great Gilbert will close his four days' engagement at the Cosmo theatre tonight and as a special feature of the performance, he will invite women upon the stage to be hypnotized as several Glendale women have expressed a desire to know how it feels to be under the influence of hypnotism. While Professor Gilbert does not try to give the same tests with the women that he does with the men, it is, however, possible to have them imagine they are great opera singers, pirates, newsboys, in fact he can give many interesting tests.

"Salvation Hunters," with its volunteer crew of actors, made in odd spots about Los Angeles, proved to be a pictorial gem that many of the greatest studios could have made without discredit; and for starting psychological thrills it has not been matched. "Salvation Hunters" will be seen at the Cosmo theatre, tonight only.

SAN BERNARDINO, May 27.—F. H. Day, city editor of The Morning Sun, will be removed to a hospital here from Corona today if his condition permits, doctors announced this morning and a major operation will be performed in an effort to save his life. He is suffering from a fractured skull received in an automobile accident early Monday morning. O. E. Eckrote, a printer riding with Day, also was hurt in the wreck which occurred near Elsinore.

WRECKS AND MORE WRECKS

VENTURA, May 27.—One of the most unusual automobile wrecks ever witnessed on the coast highway occurred late yesterday when a man who had wrecked his own car the day before, drove a borrowed Ford sedan into the rear of an oil well driller's truck in an effort to avoid a wreck. The truck driver, trying to avoid the wreck also, swerved his heavy load and unbalanced a two ton steam boiler which pitched over the highway near Summerland and lit on the Southern Pacific coast route main line tracks. This required a wrecking crew to remove it. No one was injured.

STRING TIED TO GIFT—

SANTA BARBARA, May 27.—A Montecito millionaire has offered to donate $200,000 for a safe harbor here for yachts and other ships making this port, provided the city votes double that amount, City Manager Herbert Nunn has been informed. He believes the people will vote such a bond issue and with state or federal aid obtain a million dollar harbor for half price.

LOS ANGELES

LOS ANGELES, May 27.—The Los Angeles Times, operating radio KHJ, today announced it would endeavor to establish a world's record next week when for six days and nights the program from its broadcasting station will be continuous. Sixty-five Shrine bands, chanters, ceremonies and other feature programs under the direction of three separate sets of announcers and mechanicians working eight hour shifts, are listed.

Echoes of the sensational shooting of "Red" Lambertson, railroad wrecker, who was captured west of Glendale, where he planned to rob a Southern Pacific mail train, were heard at police headquarters when Detectives William Cahill and Ed Cato received a note threatening them with death, it was reported today.

Jail for reckless drivers is the punishment being meted in Police Judge Chamber's court, one man getting two months and another 30 days, among other sentences inflicted in speed court.

Million dollar savings in Los Angeles' fire insurance bill has been promised by the underwriters in a communication to the Chamber of Commerce.

Memorial Observance For School Children

When American people pay tribute to their dead on Memorial day, residents of that part of Illinois swept by the tornado, Wednesday, March 18, will pay tribute to the school children who lost their lives in the disaster.

Mrs. George Rolens of 655 West Wilson avenue, has sent The Glendale Evening News a clipping from a newspaper in Murphysboro, Ill., telling of the call for the memorial observance from the state superintendent of public instruction.

He says: "The children who lost their lives in the great storm, died like soldiers in the cause of their country. All the schools in the state should pay a special tribute of respect to these dead comrades of theirs on this Memorial day."

The county superintendent of schools has requested that in every community in the county where Memorial day services are being planned, that some place on the program be set apart for the showing of respect to the memory of the school children who died in the great tornado while in attendance at school.

Representatives of local organizations of Sunland and Tujunga were present to welcome the visitors. The home was beautifully decorated for the occasion.

After an inspection of the home and greetings from the valley representatives, and eloquent response by General Booth, the party was escorted to Monte Vista Park where lunch was served under the wide spreading oaks. E. F. Lancaster of Sunland Chamber of Commerce and Valley Center Improvement league was chairman of the occasion.

"Singing Jimmie" Smith, as usual, made a hit with original songs. Rev. Geo. L. Durr of Montrose, introduced General Booth, who spoke eloquently of the work and ideals of the Volunteers of America, and at the close of his talk, called upon Colonel William Hughes, to whose untiring efforts the philanthropic institutions of the Volunteers of America in California, have been established; namely, Girls' and Boys' Home, Workingmen's Home of Los Angeles, and the Home for the Aged at Sunland.

Colonel and Mrs. Fred Lindsey of Seattle favored the audience with a song. A hearty vote of thanks was extended to the citizens of the valley for the entertainment provided. Local organizations who were active in making the occasion a success were: Sunland Chamber of Commerce, Kiwanis club of Tujunga, Valley Center Improvement league, Realty Board, and Masons. Other organizations were represented by officers and members.

The Sunland school will hold its commencement exercises June 11. The present corps of teachers will be retained for the coming school year: Principal, M. L. Juneau; teachers, Mrs. Elizabeth Miller; Mrs. Beulah Knight, Miss M. Ada Blake. Mrs. Anna Cummings will be instructor at the La Contenta School for Girls. It is expected that an additional teacher will be necessary next year. Prof. Juneau will institute manual training in the Sunland school next year.

Earl Newmire has been appointed as trustee to fill vacancy on school board, other members being C. D. Wyckoff, president; M. E. Morgan, clerk.

The Sunland Cannery employes held their annual picnic at the close of the season's packing, at Santa Monica beach. The cannery closed April 18, having put up 13,000 cases.

It will be impossible for Sunland to become annexed to the City of Los Angeles, as the Board of Public Service commission voted against recommending any additional annexation to the city on report of William Mulholland, chief engineer of municipal water bureau, on account of endangering the water supply of the entire city by spreading it over constantly increasing area. Sunland was one of ten which had applied for annexation to Los Angeles. Until the Colorado river project is completed there will be no additional annexations to the city of Los Angeles.

The date of the picnic sponsored by the Valley Center Improvement league was changed at the last meeting of the league from May 30 to May 28. Some discussion was held in regard to place of holding picnic, and Tujunga Canyon was decided upon.

A small house at north end of Second street was destroyed by fire Saturday night, May 9. Fire Chief Harry Rice was notified by phone too late to save the building. The owner, Frank Guidera, had been away during the day, and so far as known, no one had been in the house since the owner left for Los Angeles in the morning.

The body of Chester M. Cate of San Gabriel was found last Wednesday morning, about twenty feet from the Roscoe road, where he had committed suicide by shooting himself with a .25 calibre automatic pistol. A car had been noticed by Ray E. Shales, standing by the side of the road for several hours, from about 5 o'clock in the afternoon, and becoming suspicious, Mr. Shales notified the sheriff's office. A search party was organized by Deputy Weir, and after an all night's search, the body was found about 5 a. m. by Deputy Constable Parry and Eugene Oliver. Investigation was made by Detective Lieut. Newstetter of Los Angeles police force. The body was removed to the Tujunga Undertaking rooms.

KIWANIS CLUB CELEBRATION BIG EVENT

Members Enjoy Dinner Given By Directors; Reward For Attendance

By MERRIL D. DAVIS
Of The Evening News Staff.

Eighty-three Kiwanians gathered at Oakmont Country club at 6:30 o'clock last night, where they were tendered a dinner by the officers and directors of the club. The dinner came as a forfeit on the part of the club officers, when some few weeks ago the proposition was made the members that provided the attendance at the regular Friday meetings was maintained at 100 per cent mark for a period of ten weeks the dinner for the entire club would be on the board.

Suffice to say—the board has paid—the debt is clear. Dinner was served a la buffet, and right here is where Manager Harry Ellison of Oakmont Country club comes in for a lot of credit. A great long table, its legs fairly creaking with the weight of the many good things it bore, presented a sight for sore eyes and empty stomachs.

'Regular' Eats, Too

There were five different kinds of salads, roast turkey, roast beef, roast lamb, Virginia baked ham, mashed potatoes, hors d'ouvre (whatever that is) should have been at the beginning of the list, especially if it's celery, olives, pickles and all that sort of thing. Anyway, the idea is that it was a wonderful feed, which it must have been, or otherwise "Kahn Tom" Esq., and others would not have been fined by President Frank Fox for having their plates filled the second or third time.

A description of the dinner should include something about the decorations, an outstanding feature of which was a great cake of ice fashioned in the shape of an Indian chief's head, feathers and all. This was significant of the old tribe of "Kawanee" Indians of Michigan and from which the name Kiwanis was later derived.

The real festivities began, however, after everyone had dined. The program would have been perfect except for one little incident which marred the evening's enjoyment for everyone and nearly spoiled everything.

Shooting Scrape

It would hardly be ethical to say anything about it, because wouldn't it create a terrible scandal if it got into print that Mayor Harry MacBain and Chief of Police Fraser got into an argument that ended up in a shooting scrape? Five shots were fired before the men could be subdued. But of course as long as everyone keeps still it'll probably be all right.

It's a good thing that the Western Union Telegraph Co. knew where a lot of Kiwanians were last night, for the wires seemingly were very, very busy. A message from Mayor Hylan of New York city and addressed to Mayor Harry MacBain of Glendale requested that he come immediately to New York to fill Mayor Hylan's position while he, Hylan, went away for his summer vacation.

'Park Sisters' Sing

Other apparently important messages were received by C. D. Thom, Fred Porter of the Christie Film Co., Hollywood, M. B. Towman and Dr. Jack Anderson.

The Kiwanis double quartet, under the direction of "Bill" Bode, sang several numbers which were heartily received by a more than appreciative audience. Other features on the program were the "Park Sisters" (Bill Bode and Park Arnold), Glenn Dolberg, Ole Andresen, Allan Fairchild, Bert Woodard, Herman Nelson, Spencer Robinson, A. L. Baird and M. D. Davis.

At the close of the program a rising vote of thanks to President Frank Fox and the board of directors was extended by the members. Otherwise this is a true and faithful account of the entertainment, at least as nearly as the reporter can remember.

CATHEDRAL BOMB HURLERS HANGED

Bulgaria Executes Three Of Perpetrators As Public Surrounds Gallows

SOFIA, May 27.—The three principal perpetrators of Svet Kral cathedral bombing, Zadgorsky, Friedmann and Colonel Keoff, were hanged this morning. The hangings were held publicly. A cordon of police and soldiers surrounded the gallows to keep back the huge crowds. It seemed as though the entire city had turned out to see the executions.

Volunteers were called to act as hangmen. No one volunteered. The authorities then summoned Jypsy Demir, the veteran hangman, to carry out the task.

Three Others Doomed

The military court condemned to death the French woman, Madame Mallet Nicolova, the Swiss citizen, Leges and the Agrarian, Perchemlieff, who were charged with having sheltered the cathedral bombers who caused the death of approximately 160 persons in a plot to overthrow the Bulgarian government.

ATWATER RESIDENTS WANT WIDER STREET

Improvements on Glendale Boulevard Advocated at Meeting Attended by Civic Body Members

Widening of Glendale boulevard from First street to the boundary line of the Atwater district at Riverside drive was advocated at a meeting of the Greater Glendale Boulevard association last night, when representatives of other improvement bodies in the vicinity took part in the discussion.

Plans advanced by advocates of the broader boulevard would include the widening of the thoroughfare its full length from Riverside drive to Alessandro street. From Alessandro to Sunset boulevard, it is believed the street will not need to be widened at this time. Sections between Sunset boulevard and First street will be included in the widening scheme, however.

With new bridges at Glendale boulevard and Hyperion way across the Los Angeles river, a greater flow of traffic than at present can be accommodated, it was pointed out by W. S. Hurley, who represented Atwater Park at the meeting. With the boulevard through Ivanhoe already crowded, the increase in traffic will become a hazard unless the street is widened, he declared.

Cost of widening the boulevard will not be great, it was said, as there are but few permanent buildings to be moved. All the newer structures erected along the thoroughfare have been built to conform to a set-back line.

Advertises Bond Election

The Glendale Chamber of Commerce will co-operate with the Atwater district in advertising the forthcoming bridge bond issue which includes amounts for new bridges at Glendale and Hyperion boulevards. A request from the Atwater Improvement association for banners to be placed across Glendale boulevard in the vicinity of the present bridge, calling attention to the poor condition of the structure and the need for an adequate span, was read to the board of directors of the Glendale chamber yesterday. The directors voted to ask the Los Angeles Traffic commission to erect such signs and, in the event that their request is not granted, to pay the cost of the signs out of the Chamber of Commerce funds.

Postcards with a message on the back, advocating the passage of the bonds will be distributed among residents of Glendale with a request that they be mailed to friends in Los Angeles who will vote on the issue. The Chamber of Commerce will distribute the cards.

Reception For Bride

A reception in honor of Miss Kathleen Walshe of Los Angeles and Henry Aplin of Sacramento, whose marriage will take place tomorrow, Thursday, May 28, 1925, at high noon, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Reeks of Anaheim, will be given tonight at the home of Miss Walshe's sister-in-law, Mrs. Lon Gardner of 3460 Perlita avenue, Atwater district. A dinner will be served at 7 o'clock for Mr. and Mrs. Frank Walshe, of Inglewood, Mr. and Mrs. Hugo Jacobsmeyer, Miss Walshe, Mr. Aplin, Mr. and Mrs. Lon Gardner. Pink sweetpeas and ferns will be used for decorations of the table and in the Gardner home.

After the dinner a reception will be held, forty guests being invited from Los Angeles and Inglewood. Refreshments will be served later in the evening. Miss Walshe has lived in Southern California for twenty-five years and came here from Dublin, Ireland. Mr. Aplin is a retired business man of Sacramento. After their marriage they will leave for Sacramento to make their home.

Our efforts and time have been well repaid
By the goal and the friends we've won;
And among all the people we're eager to thank
Who never have counted the cost,
Who helped to put Wilson in front of the rank
Without whom our cause would have lost;
Whose co-operation and courteous grace
Has certainly brought us our dues
Are the ones we must thank for the generous space

TRANSIT PLAN FOR VALLEY OUTLINED

Proposed Lines From City And San Fernando To L. A. Are Visualized

Detailed plans for the proposed rapid transit lines from Los Angeles to Glendale and the San Fernando valley, as set forth in the report of the Kelker and DeLeuw, engineers, and the City and County Planning commissions, were announced by L. T. Rowley, new head of the rapid transit committee of the Associated Chambers of Commerce, today. Details call for:

1—A double-track ballasted deck steel elevated railroad on Glendale boulevard from the portal of the Hollywood tunnel and extending to a connection with the existing tracks of the Pacific Electric railroad on Glendale boulevard near Sunset boulevard, the estimated cost to be $1,530,000.

2—A three-track concrete steel elevated railway on Glendale boulevard and private right-of-way from a connection with Sunset boulevard, and elevated to Fargo street.

3—One additional track on Allesandro street and one private right-of-way from Fargo street to the proposed San Fernando valley line junction just west of the Los Angeles river near the Glendale boulevard bridge.

4—A double-track, single column ballasted deck steel elevated railway on private right-of-way and on Brand boulevard in Glendale from the San Fernando valley line junction to Arden Junction near the Burbank city limits.

5—A double-track ballasted deck steel elevated railway from the San Fernando valley line junction northwest along the line of the Los Angeles river to Los Feliz road, and thence into the San Fernando valley on a paved right-of-way at grade, following the line of the Southern Pacific tracks along the river bank.

The cost of the San Fernando valley line would be approximately $4,678,000, according to the report. No estimates of the cost of elevating the Pacific Electric tracks through Glendale was given.

Plans for a rapid transit system in Greater Los Angeles and the San Fernando valley call for a development unsurpassed in any other city of the United States. A major part of the plan pertains to the San Fernando valley district and the Glendale section where traffic congestion is at a maximum and transportation facilities considered inadequate, Mr. Rowley said.

As chairman of the rapid transit committee of the Associated Chambers, Mr. Rowley will become one of the leading factors in the promotion of the proposed transit lines.

When actual work on the plan advanced by the Kelker, DeLeuw report is not definitely determined, Mr. Rowley said. However, with the plan worked out in detail and schemes for financing the tremendous undertaking laid, the proposed rapid transit system can be commenced at any time.

THIEVERY IN BUSINESS IS DEPLORED

Credit Expert Says Crooked Dealings Cost Nation Millions Yearly

By ROBERT T. SMALL
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, May 27.—A complete breakdown of home influence and home discipline, together with a passion for thrills, explain in some measure the reason for America's unenviable crime record among the nations of the world. There is also the failing influence of the church and perhaps the attempt to clamp down too tight a lid in too much of a hurry on the habit of drinking intoxicating liquors.

All of this is the careful diagnosis of an expert student of crime, the man who is raising a fund of $2,000,000 to "police" the nation against a growing class of crooks—the so-called "business burglars." This man believes that American business has been drawn into the vortex of crime. Startling statistics are available to show that hundreds of murders are committed in this country against a single homicide in England, that twenty-two times as many burglaries are committed in Chicago as in the immense city of London. But the business burglar is causing the greatest property loss of all. It has been estimated that in the United States in the year 1924 the losses through business defaults amounted to the astounding sum of $700,000,000. Of this total it has been reckoned that at least $250,000,000 of the loss could be traced direct to conspiracy and crime.

Business Losses

The amount of money in circulation in the United States is only about $42 per capita. Last year there was a loss of $6.50 per capita through business defaults, and each man, woman and child in the United States lost $2.50 through business crimes.

The evangelist who has set forth to save business is an enthusiastic and slightly portly gentleman who hails from the shores of Chesapeake bay. His name is J. Harry Tregoe and he was born and bred in Baltimore. Just at present he resides in the Oranges, of New Jersey, and his offices are in the downtown district of New York. He is the executive secretary of the National Association of Credit Men and his mission in life to to keep the credit of the nation pure and good. Mr. Tregoe has been here in the central west preaching the gospel and has found in Cincinnati the same cooperation from the bankers and business men that has greeted him elsewhere in his travels on the mission for a return to the old-time religion of the Golden Rule in business as well as in everyday intercourse.

First Million Raised

The first million to drive the business crooks into the penitentiary has been just about completed. It is to be used in the territory east of Cincinnati and as far south as Baltimore. Another million is to be raised among the credit men to cover the south and west. The business crook is the man who obtains credit under false pretenses, the man who goes into fake bankruptcy, the man who concealed his assets from his creditors, the man who sells his goods "below cost" and then does not pay his bills. Some of the crooks work in chains, operating stores in a number of cities at once.

But Mr. Tregoe, mild of manner, gray haired with iron gray moustache, avows the business crook is but a symbol of the times. The American people of today are "crazy for thrills" he says, and he adds that perhaps they are going to get them. Their passion for thrills knows no limits. Today it may be rolled stockings and knee-high skirts for the women, new ideals of make-up, new scents and perfumes; tomorrow it may be the thrill of sport, of taking a chance—a flier—but always there is to be contended with an impatience of the drudgery of a work-a-day world.

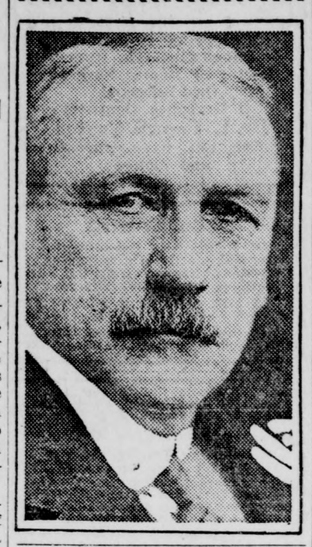
Mr. Tregoe adds that the entire nation gets excited and thrilled over the idea that the national budget director at Washington may cut $300,000,000 from the national expenditures in another year; but up to now the nation has paid little or no attention to an annual loss through credit defaults of more than twice the sum that President Coolidge and General Lord are trying to save by governmental economies. This credit loss each year is a direct tax upon the people. They must pay it just as surely as they pay income taxes to the government. The credit losses reach everyone, for the business man cannot stand it; he must include the loss in the price of his goods.

The extent to which the business of the nation rests upon credit is emphasized by Mr. Tregoe in the statement that ninety-five out of every 100 business transaction is a credit proposition. So that every time a woman buys a dress or a man a pair of shoes he must pay the tax of the credit crook or defaulter.

"The business men of the United States," declares Mr. Tregoe to the writer, "must fight today for decency and honor and righteousness in commercial life as once his forebears fought for liberty."

Given Medal

JOHN F. STEVENS, American railway engineer, formally awarded the John Fitz gold medal by the Engineering Foundation.



COMMENT by GIL A. COWAN

Nurmi, the winged Finn, has tasted defeat. A Penn State athlete named Helffrich bested him in a half-mile sprint last night in New York.

Nurmi's defeat is nothing for the fleet-footed one to worry over. Nor is Helffrich's achievement as yet much to brag about, other than the fact he was so fortunate as to first take the tape from the human "running machine."

The big point in the news item about the race, which reporters do not write, is the fact that no man was ever so good at his own trick but what someone has not, or will not do it better. You can travel all of life's trails and see how it works out.

John D. Rockefeller was the first to make a billion dollars, but Henry Ford has overtaken him on John D.'s chief stock in trade, gasoline, but producing something that uses that gasoline.

Ty Cobb and others made home-run records in baseball, but Babe Ruth outdid them, and now he is done as a record breaker, it is to be presumed.

The phonographs outnumbered pianos, and now radios are being sold more rapidly than the talking machines which Edison first made.

Truly, this world holds no limit for new records, although one realizes there is a certain point past which human endurance will not go. Yet, to see the new world's records hung up by athletes every spring, any guess is as good as the next as to where the "breaking point" lies.

Los Angeles, and all Southern California, for that matter, is getting excited over the imperial council of Ancient Arabic Order Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, which convenes in the metropolis next week. Already the visiting delegates are arriving and downtown streets are crowded with more people than the traffic will stand.

Beyond a reasonable doubt the strange nobles will find Glendale an oasis, figuratively speaking, where a certain degree of leisurely sightseeing may be enjoyed without a jolt in the ribs every thirty seconds. If you have friends among the visitors, do not fail to invite them "out here" for dinner. And "sell" them Glendale as a 100 per cent American city.

You can do it without deception, because Glendale lives up to practically every boast.

A very gracious tribute was paid Dr. Henry Harrower by the Exchange club yesterday in honoring their scientific member and his executive staff.

Likewise, the applause given Mrs. Charles H. Toll by Tuesday Afternoon club luncheon guests when she was mentioned potentially as "the first woman senator from California," was fitting, for she has admirably represented the women as a club leader.

These two instances only go to show that Glendale has in its midst people who not only ARE recognized, but SHOULD BE GIVEN greater recognition for their achievements. The writer could name a score or more, offhand, who are national figures in their respective spheres.

INGLEDUE TAKES STAND ON BONDS

Realtor Favors School Money 100 Per Cent And Tells Why, Wherefore

Editor, The Evening News:—Inasmuch as the impression has gone abroad that I am not in favor of voting bonds for the development and improving of our city school system, I would like very much to express myself through your columns.

I have been in very close touch with certain members of the committee of fifteen, selected for the purpose of investigating the needs of the schools, and I have implicit faith in this committee, for I believe they were selected, not for the purpose of boosting a bond-voting campaign, but to get at the real facts. I know, at least, some members of that committee could not have been deceived, browbeaten or cajoled into making a misrepresentation of the facts as they found them, for they are conservative to the last degree. In fact, they were looking for any legitimate excuse to cut down the amount to be asked for, but they came back with the report that every dollar is needed.

Need Explained

In talking over the matter with them, item by item, they explain the need for every one in a very logical manner, showing that they have spared no expense in the outlay of time and energy in getting to the bottom of our actual school needs. I want to express my appreciation to these busy men and women, who have given so freely and unselfishly of their time to get these facts for us.

I have before me a very lengthy report, compiled by this committee, in which the conditions are stated just as they exist, and I declare to you that I do not see how any sane, self-respecting citizen of Glendale could fail to support a proposition of such merit. I believe my neighbors know me well enough to understand that I am not given to supporting any movement just to be popular, for I have been known, in times past, to oppose the judgment and wishes of some of my fellow-citizens, and made myself very unpopular, because I did not believe in the merits of the proposition advocated, and in the present issue I am not taking this stand just to hear myself talk.

I don't like bond issues any more than the rest of Glendale taxpayers. I came very near having to borrow the money to pay my taxes this year, don't know what I will do next, but I can't oppose the development of our schools.

Problem in Schools

The growth of Glendale has produced a problem in our schools but we can't lag behind and deprive our boys and girls of the opportunity of preparing themselves to take the burden of citizenship.

I am satisfied that, if the proper publicity is given to the merits of this issue and of the need that is upon us, there will be very few votes cast in opposition. Glendale people are the best on earth and above average intelligence, and, if given the facts, they will vote right every time.

I am for both propositions 100 per cent, and if you will tell the world I will be much obliged.

Yours very truly,
C. W. INGLEDUE,

License Act Taken as State Bar Precedent

The California real estate license act, according to George F. McNoble, president of the California Bar association, furnished a precedent for the state bar association in preparing the self-governing bar act which passed the recent Legislature. This statement was made by President McNoble before the farm lands conference of the California Real Estate association held at Stockton.

"The realtor's act is well drawn, and when we sought a precedent in preparing the state bar act," President McNoble said, "we followed some of the principal features of your act. We used especially, the finance side, as we needed some justification why we should charge annual dues (license fee), and we found your bill an established precedent."

The California real estate license act was the result of fifteen years' intensive work by leaders of the state association and the older local boards. The act was adopted in 1919 and the license fees were fixed at $10 for brokers and $2 for salesmen.

Subsequently the real estate act was amended, providing for the qualification test for brokers. This amending was done by the legislative committee of 1923 of the state association. William H. Akins was the chairman. Frazier O. Reed of San Jose was the state president, and the attorney for the state association was Max J. Kuhl, the well-known constitutional lawyer of San Francisco, who died a year ago.

PARIS, May 27.—The work of Mme. Curie, world-famous scientist and discoverer of radium, will not die with her.

Mlle. Irene Curie, beautiful daughter of the madame, has consecrated her life to her mother's work, and is now preparing herself to aid and continue the researches begun by the greatest living woman scientist.

Mlle. Curie has the scientific bent, as might be expected, since both of her parents are famous for their work in laboratories. She recently was awarded the degree of doctor of science by the Sorbonne, France's greatest university, and at the ceremonies attendant on the conferring of the degree, delivered a lecture on alpha rays and polonium, clearly demonstrating her grasp of scientific principles.

BOND COMMITTEE TO MEET TUESDAY

Campaign For School Issue Of $1,237,000 Will Be Pushed To Election

Precinct committees, whose chairmen are members of the special committee of fifteen in charge of the campaign for the $1,237,000 school bond election to be held June 16, will meet in the various city precincts next Tuesday evening to lay plans for an intensive campaign to continue until the eve of election.

The committee of fifteen, and presidents of various Parent-Teacher association units in Glendale met last night with the Board of Education following the regular meeting of that body to hear a report by M. Walters, chairman of the publicity and speakers' sub-committee.

Walters said that arrangements are being made for speakers to appear before various service clubs in Glendale to urge passage of the elementary school bond issue. Volunteer speakers will also be obtained from the membership of service clubs, he reported.

Questionnaires

Questionnaires dealing with the proposed bond issue are being prepared at the present time, he said, to be distributed broadcast among voters of the city.

At the board meeting the following teachers were appointed for elementary schools here: First, second and third grades: Mrs. Grace E. Holman, Miss Margaret McGuire, Miss Louise Hollenback, Miss Helen Ingledue, Mrs. H. B. Allen, Miss Alice M. Green and Miss Dorothy E. Rich; fourth, fifth and sixth grades: Miss Vida T. Norman, Miss R. I. Doolittle, Miss Helen Peters, Miss Evelyn Sharp, Miss Agnes Brown, Miss M. Arnold. For intermediate grades Ray Compton and Miss Gladys Hamilton were selected.

The board agreed to pay the city assessment of $200 for fire hydrants installed on Park avenue and Acacia avenue for school protection.

LAKE RUM 'KING' TAKEN IN CHASE

Eight Men, Armed Girl In Male Dress, Included in Federal Haul

ROCHESTER, N. Y., May 27.—Captain Ben Kerr of Toronto, so-called "King of the lake rum runners," and eight men and an armed girl, were captured early today following a chase of a 42-foot craft by a coast guard cutter.

Eight shots were fired from the government boat before Kerr brought his boat to a halt and surrendered. Only eight cases of Canadian ale were found on the boat, but hundreds of cases are said to have been thrown overboard by the runners in the attempt to escape.

Girl Dressed As Man

Mae Davis, 25, of Webster, N. Y., dressed as a man, was arrested on shore by customs men who took a revolver from her pocket. She was one of the unloading detail, according to the officers.

Captain Kerr, according to federal officers, is the most daring rum runner on the great lakes.

GREY REPLIES TO BOARD PRESIDENT

Outlines Need Of School In Northwest Section Of Glendale

Editor The Evening News: I will appreciate space in your paper for reply to J. D. Hibben in the personal attack he made on me at a time he knew I could not answer his statements owing to the rule adopted by the Municipal league which provided: "Each speaker was to have five minutes only." Mr. Hibben, waiting to the end of the meeting, took advantage of the fact I had used my allotted time, to launch this personal attack based on the ground of an offered suggestion to the board that:

"Inasmuch as it was schools and not playgrounds that were needed, that no bonds should be issued for additions to the Glendale Intermediate school grounds or those of Columbus Grammar school. That the amount thus saved, $100,000, should be added to the $161,000 allotted for the intermediate school on Glenwood road as that amount was not nearly adequate for the requirements of that district."

Tells of Protests

For a great number of years Mr. Hibben has been the president of the school board. During that time he states that his "ear was to the ground." That "he was constantly inquiring in each of these districts what their needs were." Why is it then that the great west and northwest side of our city is today and has been for a number of years without a much needed intermediate school, when two are placed almost side by side in the east side of town, and that, over the vehement public protest of parents on the west side?

Why today are the children of the northwest side of Glendale obliged to attend Burbank city schools because of the distance to Glendale intermediate, grammar and high schools? Is it not because of the almost criminal neglect of Mr. Hibben, former president of the school board, that such a contingency exists today?

He states, "After all these years on the school board I still do not own an automobile." If Mr. Hibben lived in the northwest section of the city, and had children of a school age he would be obliged to own an automobile or send his children to the Burbank schools the same as others are now doing, that is—if he would send his children to our public schools. Is not this condition the most damming indictment that can be made of the former school board under Mr. Hibben's leadership?

Remedy Conditions

Mr. Hibben stated, that losing the last bond election did not lose him any sleep, yet he pretends to be very solicitous for the welfare of our schools. If he is sincere and if we lose this bond election, Mr. Hibben and the board should immediately resign, as they assuredly do not appear to interpret the wishes of the taxpayers and voters, and most certainly do not adequately provide proper facilities for our school children.

In order to remedy the above condition now, it is recommended by the board in this bond election that some sites be purchased on the west side and the twenty-two old buildings on the sites on the east side be moved thereto, thus providing additional space for handsome new buildings on the east side sites!

The voters of Glendale will doubtless appreciate this action of the board at the coming bond election. Come out and vote!

Burbank's Annexation Vote Set For June 30

Burbank will vote on June 30 on proposed annexation to the city of Los Angeles, as the result of action taken last night by the Burbank Board of Trustees when the election was officially called. The proposed election has been the cause of much heated controversy in Burbank over a period of more than a year, with the Burbank Consolidation league supporting the annexation. Petition for the election as filed several weeks ago with the Board of Trustees but checking of names of signers has delayed calling of the election until the present time. The Greater Burbank association has been formed recently to combat the activities of the Burbank Consolidation league and to oppose annexation.

Proponents of annexation claim that Burbank must join with Los Angeles to be permitted to attach its sewer system with the outfall sewer through Glendale, and to protect water rights now claimed by the city of Los Angeles.

Jury Incomplete

Meanwhile attempts to empanel a jury to try William D. Shepherd for the alleged murder of William Nelson McClintock proceeded at its habitual snail-like pace today as the focal point of interest in the case swept from Chicago to New York where the state today hoped to locate Robert White, missing prosecution witness.

Both state and defense today centered their attention on filling the gap in the second panel of four accepted jurors caused by the dismissal of Harold Pillar when he underwent a change of heart toward capital punishment after having stated he had no objections to it during examination. Before the noon recess three "J. Smiths," the first three veniremen summoned today, had been challenged for cause, one of them after having been passed by the state, leaving another session without progress.

Pending the location of White in the east, John J. Kelly, friend of White, who told state investigators White had demanded $5000 from Shepherd's attorneys to repudiate his original statements, was being held incommunicado here.

CHURCH SPLIT OVER FAITH FORESEEN

Belief In Virgin Birth As Essential To License May Cause Break

By HAROLD M'COY
For International News Service.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, May 27.—A break in the Presbyterian church is certain if a majority of the Presbyteries support the General Assembly in decreeing that complete faith in the Virgin birth is essential to licensure as a minister of the church, Dr. Henry Sloan Coffin, New York modernist, declared here today.

"A break has been averted for a year at least by the action of the several assemblies in ordering investigation of the whole modernist-fundamentalist controversy by a special commission," Dr. Coffin admitted.

Formal protest of modernists against the ruling of the judicial commission and the ratification of the ruling by the general assembly was presented to the General Assembly today on behalf of modernists by Charles B. Schwartz, of the First Presbyterian church, Chicago.

The protest against the Gantz case decision was based on these major contentions:

That it violated the historic policy of the church that Presbyteries are sole judges of the qualifications of candidates for licensure to the ministry.

That the ruling in effect adds to the constitutional ordination vow, a further requirement which cannot lawfully be done, except by action of Presbyteries.

That the examination of H. B. Vandusen, the candidate in question, shows beliefs which would have insured his admittance by almost every Presbytery of the church.

That it violates the policy "of liberty of belief which makes the Presbyterian church an inclusive church instead of a narrow sect."

That by requiring absolute conformity, "it restores those Roman Catholic theories of ecclesiastical authority, which it was the very purpose of Presbyterian Protestantism to overthrow."

Signatures to the statement of protest against the judicial commission decision represented commissioners from New York City and state, as well as from Chicago and Illinois; St. Louis and Missouri and from New Jersey, Montana, Minnesota, Wyoming and Iowa.

The General Assembly was dissolved at noon. The 1926 General Assembly will meet in Baltimore, Md.

The HOUSE Of The ARROW

A SERIAL STORY WRITTEN BY A. E. W. MASON

Protected By The McClure Newspaper Syndicate

"But that is not all the truth," she said. "Betty's room belongs to that suite of rooms in which Madame Harlowe's bedroom was arranged. It is the last room of the suite opening on to the hall, and for that reason, as the commissaire said with an apology, it was necessary to seal it up with the others."

"I thank you, Mademoiselle," said Harlowe with a smile. "Yes, that of course, softens his action." He looked whimsically at Betty in the window-seat. "It has been my misfortune, I am afraid, to offend Mademoiselle Harlowe. Will you help me to get all these troublesome dates now clear? Madame Harlowe was buried, I understand, on the Saturday morning twelve days ago!"

"Yes, Monsieur," said Ann Upcott.

"And after the funeral, on your return to this house, the notary opened and read the will?"

"Yes, Monsieur."

"And in Boris Waberski's presence?"

"Yes."

"Then exactly a week later, on Saturday, the seventh of May, he goes off quickly to the prefecture of police?"

"Yes."

"And on Sunday morning by the post comes the anonymous letter?"

Hanaud turned away to Betty, who bowed her head in answer.

"And a little later on the same morning comes the commissaire, who seals the doors."

"At 11 o'clock, to be exact," replied Ann Upcott.

Hanaud bowed low.

"You are both wonderful young ladies. You notice the precise hour at which things happen. It is a rare gift, and very useful to people like myself."

Ann Upcott had been growing easier and easier in her manner with each answer that she gave. Now she could laugh outright.

"I do, at all events, Monsieur Hanaud," she said. "But alas! I was born to be an old maid. A chair out of place, a book disarranged, a clock not keeping time, or even a pin on the carpet—I cannot bear these things. I notice them at once and I must put them straight. Yes, it was precisely 11 o'clock when the commissaire of police rang the bell."

"Did he search the rooms before he sealed them?" Hanaud asked.

"No. We both of us thought his negligence strange," Ann replied, "until he informed us that the examining magistrate wanted everything left just as it was."

Hanaud laughed genially.

"That was on my account," he explained. "Who could tell what wonderful things Hanaud might not discover with his magnifying glass when he arrived from Paris? What fatal fingerprints! Oh! Ho! ho! What scraps of burnt letter! Ah! Ha! ha! But I tell you, Mademoiselle, that if a crime has been committed in this house, even Hanaud would not expect to make any startling discoveries in rooms which had been open to the whole household for a fortnight since the crime. However," and he moved towards the door, "since I am here now—"

Betty was upon her feet like a flash of lightning. Hanaud stopped and swung round upon her, swiftly, with his eyes very challenging and hard.

"You are going to break those seals now?" she asked with a curious breathlessness. "Then may I come with you—please, please! It is I who am accused. I have a right to be present," and her voice rose into an earnest cry.

"Calm yourself, Mademoiselle," Hanaud returned gently. "No advantage will be taken of you. I am going to break no seals. That, as I have told you, is the right of the commissaire, who is a magistrate, and he will not move until the medical analysis is ready. No, what I was going to propose was that Mamedoiselle here," and he pointed to Ann, "should show me the outside of those reception rooms and the rest of the house."

"Of course," said Betty, and she sat down again in the window-seat.

"Thank you," said Hanaud. He turned back to Ann Upcott. "Shall we go? And as we go, will you tell me what you think of Boris Waberski?"

"He has some nerve. I can tell you that, Monsieur Hanaud," Ann cried. "He actually came back to this house after he had lodged his charge, and asked me to support him"; and she passed out of the room in front of Hanaud.

Jim Frobisher followed the couple to the door and closed it behind them. The last few minutes had set his mind altogether at rest. The author of the anonymous letters was the detective's real quarry. His manner had quite changed when putting his questions about them. The flamboyancies and the indifference, even his amusement at Betty's ill-humor had quite disappeared. He had got to business watchfully, quietly. Jim came back into the room. He took his cigarette case from his pocket and opened it.

"May I smoke?" he asked. As he turned to Betty for permission, a fresh shock brought his thought and words alike to a standstill. She was staring at him with panic naked in her eyes and her face set like a tragic mask.

"He believes me guilty," she whispered.

"No," said Jim, and he went to her side. But she would not listen.

"He does. I am sure of it. Don't you see that he was bound to? He was sent from Paris. He has his reputation to think of. He must have his victim before he returns."

Jim was sorely tempted to break his word. He had only to tell the real cause which had fetched Hanaud out of Paris and Betty's distress was gone. But he could not. Every tradition of his life strove to keep him silent. He dared not even tell her that this charge against her was only an excuse. She must live in anxiety for a little while longer. He laid his hand gently upon her shoulder.

"Betty, don't believe that!" he said, with a consciousness of how weak that phrase was compared with the statement he could have made. "I was watching Hanaud, listening to him. I am sure that he already knew the answers to the questions he was asking you. Why, he even knew that Simon Harlowe had a passion for collecting, though not a word had been said of it. He was asking questions to see how you would answer them, setting now and then a little trap, as he admitted—"

"Yes," said Betty in trembling voice, "all the time he was setting traps."

"And every answer that you gave, even your manner in giving them," Jim continued stoutly, "more and more made clear your innocence."

"To him?" asked Betty.

"Yes, to him. I am sure of it."

Betty Harlowe caught at his arm and held it in both her hands. She leaned her head against it. Through the sleeve of his coat he felt the velvet of her cheek.

"Thank you," she whispered. "Thank you, Jim," and as she pronounced the name she smiled. She was thanking him not so much for the stout confidence of his words, as for the comfort which the touch of him gave to her.

"Very likely I am making too much of little things," she went on. "Very likely I am ungenerous, too, to Monsieur Hanaud. But he lives amidst crimes and criminals. He must be so used to seeing people condemned and passing out of sight into blackness and horrors, that one more or less, whether innocent or guilty, going that way, wouldn't seem to matter very much."

"Yes, Betty, I think that is a little unjust," Jim Frobisher remarked gently.

"Very well, I take it back," she said, and she let his arm go. "All the same, Jim, I am looking to you, not to him," and she laughed with an appealing tremor in the laugh which took his heart by storm.

"Luckily," said he, "you don't have to look to any one," and he had hardly finished the sentence before Ann Upcott came back alone into the room. She was about Betty's height and Betty's age and had the same sort of boyish slenderness and carriage which mark the girls of this generation. But in other respects, even to the color of her clothes, she was as dissimilar as one girl can be from another. She was dressed in white from her coat to her shoes, and she wore a big gold hat so that one was almost at a loss to know where her hat ended and her hair began.

"And Monsieur Hanaud?" Betty asked.

"He is prowling about by himself," she replied. "I showed him all the rooms and who used them, and he said that he would have a look at them and sent me back to you."

UNCLE WIGGILY

By HOWARD R. GARIS

Copyright, 1925, By The McClure Newspaper Syndicate

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE THORN

Uncle Wiggily stepped quietly out of his hollow stump bungalow one morning. He looked behind him. He looked in front of him and he looked to the right and he looked to the left. Then the bunny rabbit gentleman said:

"I don't believe any of them are up yet! I'll slip off quietly by myself and have an adventure. I dearly love all the forty-leven little bunny rabbits my new wife brought to me," said Mr. Longears to himself, "but sometimes they sort of get on my nerves."

Twinkling his pink nose, Mr. Longears was about to hop off down the path, when, from underneath the lilac bush at the front gate, a voice cried:

"Please take me with you, Daddycums!" and out hopped Weezie, a little rabbit girl.

"Goodness me! I thought you were still in bed and asleep!" cried Uncle Wiggily, surprised-like.

"I got up early and hopped out to find some clover," said Weezie. "May I come adventuring with you?"

"Oh, yes—I suppose so!" said the bunny gentleman, though he was a little disappointed. But he made the best of it and, having politely eaten a little of the fresh clover leaves which Weezie had picked, he took hold of his little rabbit girl's paw and off they hopped together, over the fields and through the woods.

Now, Weezie was very fond of poking into queer places along the path. If she saw a hole she was sure to thrust her little pink nose into it. And if the hole was large enough she would try to crawl in to see what was at the bottom.

Several times, as she hopped along, Weezie thrust her nose into tight places, until Uncle Wiggily finally told her:

"If you aren't careful your nose will be caught fast." And, surely enough, this happened a moment later, when Weezie tried to see what was beneath an upraised stone. She accidentally moved the stone, which settled down, catching her fast by her pink nose.

"Oh! Oh!" she cried. And if Uncle Wiggily had not been there to help her get loose I don't know what would have happened to Weezie. You would have thought that this might cure her. But no—a little later she tried to crawl beneath a briar bush to see what was under it and she was caught fast on a long thorn which stuck in her dress.

"Oh, Daddycums! I'm caught!" cried Weezie, and Uncle Wiggily had to hop over to get her loose. It wasn't easy to untangle Weezie free from the thorn without sticking her with it. And, as it was, a long gash was torn in her dress.

"That's too bad!" said Mr. Longears, as he saw the torn dress.

"Can't you take a needle and thread and sew it up like my mother would do?" asked Weezie.

"I haven't a needle and thread," said Uncle Wiggily, "and, if I had, I wouldn't know how to use it. However, since the thorn tore your dress, we must make the thorn mend it."

"How can you?" asked Weezie.

"We shall use the thorn as a pin and pin together the hole in your dress until we get home, when your mother can mend it," said Mr. Longears.

And when he had pinned together, with the thorn, the hole in Weezie's dress, the two hopped on over the fields and through the woods, having many jolly little adventures, until, at last, they neared the hollow stump bungalow again. Then, as they were hopping up the path, all of a sudden they saw, sitting with his back toward them, and waiting, the Woozie Wolf.

"Oh!" whispered Uncle Wiggily. "We can't get up the path to go home, Weezie! If we do the Wolf will get us!"

"Leave it to me! I'll fix the Wolf!" whispered Weezie. She crept softly through the grass and bushes so softly that the Wolf did not hear her. Then, all of a sudden, Uncle Wiggily, who was hiding behind a stone, waiting, heard the Wolf cry "Ouch!" and away he ran. Then Weezie, laughing, came dancing back to her new daddy.

"What did you do, Weezie?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"I stuck the nice long thorn from my dress in the Wolf's tail!" said the little rabbit girl, "and I made him run, didn't I?"

"You certainly did!" chuckled Mr. Longears. Then it was safe for him and Weezie to go into the hollow stump, which they did. And if the bottle of milk doesn't try to stand on its head, thinking in this way it might become a pound of butter, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the proud toadstool.

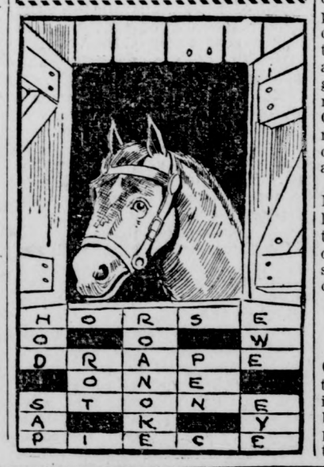
YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE ANSWERED



BURBANK NEWS

BURBANK, May 27.—Campaign to raise Burbank's quota of the proposed $150,000 fund for advertising of San Fernando valley by the Greater San Fernando Valley association has started here with headquarters at 156 Olive avenue. The basis of contributions will be on the assessed valuation of land holdings only, as described by the county tax roll.

William K. Lembke, 69, was found dead in a chair at his home, 621 Orange Grove avenue. He is believed to have died from an attack of asthma.

The May total of Burbank's building permits is nearing the $100,000 mark and will probably pass that figure this week, according to figures in the office of building superintendent.

Only $1004 in cash and subscriptions was realized in the recent Chamber of Commerce campaign, according to the final checkup. This is $2000 short of the goal set by officials as the amount necessary to keep the organization functioning during the remainder of the year. Manager Charleville told the board of directors that the chamber cannot continue to operate on this amount.

With the leasing of the S. A. Martin ranch in the Burbank valley, by the Harry Webb Production Co., work has been started on construction of a "western street" set. The street will be completed within a month.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

Deodorants

"Dear Doctor: I use a commercial preparation under the arm pits to destroy the odor and stop the secretion of perspiration. The other day a girl friend told me that this preparation was said to promote a tendency to tumors in the breast. My friend was recently operated on for tumors of the breast and she said she used to use this preparation a great deal.

"Do you think this could possibly be the cause of her tumor? Of course, I do not want to deliberately bring such a thing upon myself, but I find this preparation very useful and use it considerably.—Miss P."

I don't know whether preparations to entirely stop perspiration would cause a tumor or not. Aside from chronic irritations accompanied by some abnormal biochemical condition in the cells, we do not know the cause of tumors. However, there is no doubt that occasionally abscesses will result from the use of preparations that entirely close the pores.

There are always pus germs on the skin and these preparations evidently will sometimes inclose some of these, and thus the trouble starts. If the arm pits were very thoroughly scrubbed with hot water and soap, some of this danger might be avoided. Probably the occasional use of these preparations is not harmful. There are some commercial preparations which do n t close the pores, but do destroy the odor.

Deodorants:

1. Salicylic acid, ten grains to one ounce of talcum powder.

2. A 25 per cent solution of aluminum chloride in water. (This also contracts the pores.)

3. For bad smelling and perspiring feet, the best solution is one ounce of formalin to a quart of water. This is used every day for a week, after bathing the feet; thereafter, once or twice a week will do.

The Way to Heaven

"Dear Dr. Lulu: Will you please send me your reducing booklet? If only more doctors would do as you are doing! You are to the medical profession what the Salvation Army is to Religion. Lots of us poor weak mortals need a little band music and 'whoop-la' to attract us and keep us in the straight and narrow path to good health, as well as to heaven. And there's not so much difference between good health and heaven at that!—Mrs. M."

I agree with you—good health (we have to include mental and moral health, too) isn't a bad definition of Heaven.

The booklet was sent if you enclosed a self-addressed, stamped envelope and 10 cents in stamps to cover printing and handling. Did you do that little thing? If not, try again.

Operations

Mrs. F.—I cannot tell you what your sister's operation was, but it would not make any difference whether she were married or unmarried. An operation for an obstruction would have to be the same.

Get over the idea that the doctors were experiementing with your sister, because they were not. The fact that students were watching the operation shows that some skilful surgeon was operating; they were watching simply to learn.

Mr. B.—Your trouble sounds like acne but better go to a skin specialist to be sure. We have an article on acne you may have by enclosing a self-addressed stamped envelope with your request.

Tomorrow—Answers to Correspondents.

My Dear Followers:—When sending for material which we offer you please remember to enclose a stamped envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must enclose four cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, not over 200 words, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the column as soon as possible; if they are of general interest. Don't forget the s.a.s.e. if you expect me to send you the information I have offered.

The thrifty housewife never throws away a crumb of bread. For leftover bread bits can be used in so many ways. Try the following:

Bread Griddlecakes: Scald one and one-half cups of sweet milk and, while still hot, pour it over one and one-half cups of stale bread crumbs; let soak fifteen minutes, then add two tablespoons of melted butter, two beaten eggs, one tablespoon of sugar and one-half cup of white flour sifted with three teaspoons of baking powder. Stir well, then drop by tablespoonfuls onto a hot, greased griddle. When cooked on one side and puffed full of bubbles, turn. Serve with butter and maple sirup.

Bread-Nut Cakes for Lunch or Supper: Beat two eggs, and add one cup of stale bread crumbs, a pinch of salt, one cupful of any kind of chopped nut meats, one-half teaspoon of powdered sage, one tablespoon of butter melted, a dash of celery salt if you have it, and a sprinkling of brown sugar; form the mixture into small cakes, and bake these on a greased pan in a moderate oven for twenty minutes. Serve with brown sauce, or with gravy left-overs from roast, reheated.

Chocolate Bread Pudding: Scald four cups of sweet milk and add to two cups of bread crumbs. Let stand a moment, then add a little of this mixture to three-fourths of a cup of granulated sugar which has been previously mixed with two squares of unsweetened chocolate melted. Now add all of the milk to the sugar-chocolate combination, and stir in two beaten eggs, one teaspoon of vanilla extract and a pinch of salt. Turn all into a buttered pudding dish and bake for one hour in a moderate oven. Serve topped with Mock Whipped Cream—which is egg-white beaten stiff with a little sugar, vanilla extract, and applesauce or jelly to make it stiff.

Steamed or Bread Pudding: Pour one cup of hot water over two cups of either fresh or stale bread crumbs, add one-half cup of chopped suet, one cup of molasses, then stir in one cup of white flour which has been sifted with one teaspoon of baking soda. Also add one cup of washed, dried currants, one-half teaspoon of salt, one-half teaspoon of ground nutmeg, one teaspoon of ground cinnamon, one-fourth teaspoon of ground ginger and one beaten egg. Turn all into buttered baking powder can, filling the can only three-quarters full, tie on cover, and weigh down in a large saucepan containing enough boiling water to rise almost to can top. Let water continue to boil around can for two hours. Serve hot with a hard sauce.

Tomorrow—A Crocheted Rag Rug

Chats On Beauty

By EDNA KENT FORBES

YOUR DRESSING TABLE

Are Your Things Pretty?

Are your dressing table furnishings pretty? If not, they are better hidden, for a lot of ordinary looking brushes and mirrors and such spoil the appearance of a room, and are quite as convenient and much cleaner if kept in a drawer. Besides, as we tend more and more to compress our lives into tabloid apartments, bedrooms as separate places to sleep and dress in are being changed into living rooms by day and bedrooms only at night. Beds are disguised as day beds or couches, or even those convenient if ugly affairs, a pull out davenport, and a dressing table covered with combs and brushes and pin trays and such things is hopelessly out of place.

The new way it to have any sort of convenient low table with a fair sized drawer, placed like a console table against a wall with a decorative mirror on the wall above it, and on it nothing but a nice looking covered bowl, which conceals powder, and perhaps a very handsome hand mirror. Mirrors of gilded wood with encrusted decorations of colored flowers, in the Italian style, are very pretty and not expensive, and are quite appropriate in any sort of room where a woman would be apt to sit, and might want to powder her nose or see her hair. A low table like this, with flowers and a bowl and perhaps a mirror, adds to the attraction of any room and does not make it look too much like a sleeping apartment.

If you must economize, you can then use the cheapest and plainest toilet fittings, even wooden ones, which by the way, can be made very attractive if they are enamelled some bright color. Plain wooden boxes and trays, and brushes might be done in the new lacquer paints which dry hard and dry quickly and come in delicious rose-reds and Chinese reds, yellows and greens. They are easy to apply.

Sara — The preparation you mention is better than a depilatory but the hair will grow in again. For the dry skin, massage every day with a good cream, and wipe off the surplus and close pores with very cold water. If you use a very small amount of cream before powdering you may not have the powder form in cakes on your skin.

—E. H. C.—It is likely that you did nothing more than bruise the tissues under the place where the mole is, and the sensitiveness will not last after a few weeks more. If you still feel anxious about it after a few weeks, have your doctor examine it.

Tomorrow—The Freckle Season.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes in care of the "Beauty chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

DONOGHUE RIDES WINNER IN DERBY

Manna Leads Large Field In England's Classis At Epsom Downs

By DAVID M. CHURCH
For International News Service.

EPSOM DOWNS, Eng., May 27.—The Derby, England's greatest race classic, was won today by Manna, owned by H. E. Morris of Shanghai, China. Cross Bow, owned by Lord and Lady Astor and a heavily backed favorite, was not in the money, nor the King's entry, Runny Meade, which was touted by the Prince of Wales as a good thing. Second place went to Zionist and third place to Sirdar.

Manna was an early favorite but dropped second to Lord Astor's Cross Bow in the late betting despite the fact that Manna was ridden by Steve Donoghue, England's premier jockey, and the rider of five previous Derby winners. Manna is owned by H. E. Morris, newspaper publisher of Shanghai, China. He was quoted at 7 to 1 some little time before the race.

Crowds everywhere acclaimed Steve Donoghue, six time winner of the Derby and fourth consecutive winner as a national track hero. His mount, Manna, won in a canter by eight lengths. Manna paid 9 to 1 to win, Zionist 10 to 1 to win, Sirdar 50 to 1 to win. Place horses pay a quarter of their winning odds. Sirdar was owned by an American, A. K. Macomber. Manna is Mr. Morris' only horse. The Aga Khan of India, owns Zionist.

BOXING NOTES

Mushy Callahan slugged his way to a victory over Spug Myers at Vernon last night in one of the two ten-round main event bouts on a well-balanced card. The Los Angeles newsboy won over the Pocatello lad by reason of superior cleverness and an ability to sock and take it. In the other half of the double main event program, Georgie Rivers was given the decision over Young Nationalista after ten rounds of hard fighting. Toby Montoya and Don Levy battled six rounds to a draw. Johnny Holly copped a four-round bout from Billy Knight in the curtain raiser.

AT LONG ISLAND CITY—Sid Terris, New York City, decision over Lou Patouz, Salt Lake, ten rounds; Bud Taylor, Terre Haute, got decision over Abe Goldstein, ten rounds; Lew Hurley, New York, knocked out Bud Dempsey, New York, tenth round.

AT AKRON, Ohio—Eddie Shea of Chicago defeated Johnny Sheppard, Boston, ten rounds; Maxie Holub, Akron, won from Phil O'Dowd, Columbus, eight rounds.

AT DENVER—Izzie Tanner, St. Paul, fought fast four-round draw with Bryan (Red) Herring of Detroit. Abe Mishkind, Salt Lake, decisioned Len Malody, Laramie, Wyoming, three rounds.

AT LOS ANGELES—Mushy Callahan, Los Angeles, junior welterweight, decisioned Spug Myers, Pocatello, Idaho, ten rounds; Georgie Rivers, Los Angeles featherweight ,decisioned Young Nationalista, Manila, ten rounds.

AT SAN FRANCISCO—Georgie Spencer and Joe Gorman fought another ten-round draw here last night.

CRASHING THROUGH

Donohue and May were badly mangled as the Cardinals crashed their way to a 9 to 1 victory over the Reds.

JOHN B. FOSTER'S VIEWS

NEW YORK, May 27.—The old saying in baseball that the Giants, without John McGraw's guiding hand at the helm, are helpless, has been exploded. For the first time since he came to New York some twenty three years ago and cast in his lot with the Giants—save for one brief period when he had typhoid fever—McGraw has been absenting himself from the ball park when the Giants were playing. And the Giants have gone right on winning.

For some reason which has not been explained, McGraw has been sitting at his home in Pelham during the current invasion of the western clubs, hearing the news of the game over a wire in the afternoon, and receiving detailed reports in the evening from Hugh Jennings, his lieutenant. But the Giants have gone right ahead, slamming the best that the west could produce, with pretty general regularity.

And the Giants not only have had to do without McGraw's presence. They have had to get along without Frank Frisch, who suffered an injury. Kelly stepped in and played second base with such skill and ease that Frisch was hardly missed.

Kelly, by the way, is developing into one of the best all-around ball players in America and the gang that crowded on his heels, snarling at him, jeering, and otherwise poking malicious criticism at him, have had their mouths effectively stopped.

But the big thing about the Giants right now is that without McGraw, the "master mind," who has been said to dictate every move made by every member of his club, the Giants are playing about the same brand of ball as usual. Managers who used McGrew as an alibi when defeated by the Giants, will have to dig up another one.

Meanwhile, McGraw, for the first time in his life, has missed seeing a four-club series, in which his club was a contender. Its more than an incident. It's an event. A mile-stone.

McGraw came to the New York club in 1902 as manager of a team which seemingly could win a game only occasionally, but which had a certain following despite its hard luck and poor management. He could do little that year except pave the way for next year. One of his first moves was to send away players in goodly number. When the owner of the club, aghast, inquired why he had done it. McGraw replied:

"Just emptying the waste paper basket out the window." That ended the incident.

In 1903, McGraw led his club to second place in the race. In 1904, it won the championship and the fans fell over each other getting into the Polo Grounds.

Since then the Giants have been pursuing the winner's path, flying so many pennants they almost ran out of poles on which to display them, and have raised everything in the National league garden from hallelujah to breakfast.

And all the time, McGraw has been sitting steadfastly on the bench in the Giants dugout—a bench from which he now is strangely absent.

SHUTOUT TILT IN TWILIGHT LEAGUE

Calla Lily Team Scores In Fifth Inning, But It Does Not Count

By A. S. HALL
Of The Evening News Staff.

The arrival of 7 o'clock last night gave the Radios a shut-out victory over the Calla Lily team at the Broadway High school grounds in a Twilight league game. The score was 3 to 0 at the end of the fourth inning, but in the first of the fifth, the milkmen chalked up a run, and in the last of the fifth, the Radios had added five runs with two down when the time limit was reached.

To Manager Watts of the Radios goes credit for hurling the first shut-out game in the Twilight league, under these conditions. League rules call for play to terminate at 7 o'clock, and the count reverts back to the last full inning.

Time and tide wait for no ball player, otherwise the box score would have shown that Watts retired to left field in the first part of the fifth, with one down, and called in De Serva to finish the inning. The milkmen scored one run and had two on bases before the inning ended.

Among the notable features of the game, aside from Manager Watts looking for his rabbit foot, included a running catch made by Shingledecker in the second, when he nabbed Watts' drive, with the bases loaded, thus retiring the side. King, of the milkmen, made two good catches in centerfield, dragging down Wolfe's drive in the first, and De Serva's fly in the second.

It was everybody for himself with the Radios, for there were only three assists for the entire crew. Egbert went back for Randall's foul in the second, and gathered in H. Kerns' foul in the third. McKowan speared King's Texas leaguer in the third right when it looked like a safe bingle, and a man on third, too. Incidentally, McKowan got all the assists made by the Radios.

The milkmen went into the game feeling that the jinx was following them for sure, for in addition to playing the Radios, the manager went into the box, and his name is Watts.

This afternoon the Huli Trucks, now sharing honors with the Public Service crew, will meet the Glendale Creamery aggregation. Tomorrow afternoon the Public Servicers clash with the Christian church gang, to end the third week of play in the first round.

Sometimes the worm takes a bite out of the boa constrictor. Sometimes the Braves beat the Giants. They did it twice yesterday, 5 to 2 and 5 to 4, Graham and Cooney befuddling the champions.

COBB BREAKS RECORE

Ty Cobb got his one thousandth extra base hit, breaking Wagner's old record, as Leonard left handed the Tigers into an 8 to 1 decision over the White Sox.

Nurmi Offers No Excuse as Race Is Lost

NEW YORK, May 27.—Paavo Nurmi, badly beaten by Allan Helffrich in a special 880-yard race at the Yankee stadium last night, declared today he had no excuse to offer for his first real defeat in a scratch race since 1920, and admitted that the American was his superior at the distance, at least under existing conditions. Helffrich finished twelve yards in front in the rather slow time of 1:56 4-5.

"I am tired," Nurmi said, through an interpreter. "I am going back to Finland for a good long rest and then will resume my running. I am not discouraged by the result of the race. Why should I be? Helffrich is a great runner and he beat me fairly and squarely."

XXXIII—FRUIT DIETS

An acid fruit diet is, to a certain extent, of value as a means of replacing a fast where a rigid cure must be used and one does not possess sufficient power to fast entirely. This more especially refers to acid fruits alone, for, by combining sweet with acid fruits, one can be completely nourished in every respect.

Even the acid fruits alone contain about all the elements for an indefinite period, though, of course, he would not be as satisfactorly nourished as he would on a more nutritious diet. For the convenience of any person who may not clearly understand what is meant by acid fruits, I will say that the following are principal fruits of this character: Apples, pears, apricots, blackberries, cherries, grapes, grapefruit, lemons, limes, plums, nectarines, oranges, pineapples, strawberries, cranberries and red raspberries.

There are some other acid fruits but these represent the principle varieties that are in common use. The acid fruit is ditinguished by what might be termed partially sour taste, though as a rule it does not possess enough of this characteristic to make the taste unpleasant.

Lemons and limes, for instance, contain more of the acid characteristics than any other fruits. Grapefruit and pineapple furnish a strong acid flavor, which, as a rule, is not unpleasant. Do not, under any circumstances, use refined sugar with acid fruits, providing, you are eating them for health purposes.

Do not be afraid that acid fruits will promote acid stomach, leave that to white flour products and sugar and other foodless foods. Eat your acid fruits and sweet fruits without mixing them with foodless food or you will in a short time be living a lifeless life.

Tomorrow—Sweet Fruits

LONG BEACH, L. I., May 27.—Scores ran high among the early qualifiers for the national open on the difficult Lido course today and there were indications that comparatively few scores in the low seventies would be turned in.

Up to noon, with many of the stars not yet in, a 78 by Frank Bell Wood of Garden city was leading the field. A gentle wind which became steadier as the day progressed turned strong to the southwest early this afternoon, boded ill for the late starters.

KILLEFER IN BAD

Placing of a tax on kerosene by the Canton government recently caused all foreign companies there to stop sale of petroleum products.

TENNIS SQUAD TO SOUTH PASADENA

Dynamiters Face Tigers In Third Match Of Season Friday Afternoon

By ROSS M. RUSSELL, JR.
Of The Evening News Staff.

Wayne Maxwell leads his racquet swinging crew to South Pasadena tomorrow in the third match of the season, and although the Dynamiters are practically out of the race for the court rag, Wayne is out for blood and expects to swoop down on the unsuspecting Tigers and come home with an easy victory of the results.

The Tigers have rarely shown much opposition to Glendale's tennis team in the past two seasons and there is no reason why they should tomorrow. The locals have a strong team and were unlucky when they lost their crucial match to Alhambra last week. Wayne, first man, was sick, and dropped a match that he would have otherwise won to Houser, the Moors ace.

Francis Hardey will play second man and Dale Robinson third. Perry Townsend and Jack Finch make up the first doubles squadron while Sweeney Johnson and Brightholly comprise the second singles duet. While the boys are making it hot for the Tigers over there the girls' team headed by Mary Barbara Taylor will entertain the "Tigresses" on the home courts at Harvard High.

LAWRENCE PERRY SAYS

ANNAPOLIS, Md., May 27.—It is now assured that rowing enthusiasts of the country have reason for thrill over the prospect of the two regattas that will mark the climax of the 1925 rowing season.

Both the Navy and Washington are certain to wage a memorable contest on the Hudson river next month and from the showing which Harvard made against the Midshipmen eight on the Severn on Saturday, there may be no doubt that by the time of the annual regatta on the Thames the Crimson will be worthy rivals of the outstanding Yale crew.

If the midshipmen come to the Hudson with any advantage at all over the Huskies from the Far Northwest, it will be only on the ground of actual racing experience. Washington, since the California regatta in April, has not rowed in a regular race, while the Navy has been developing on the basis of weekly intercollegiate tests. This may mean much or little. Against any crew other than the westerners, it might out of hand held to be worth a very great deal but in the past Washington has revealed no handicap due to this condition so in the coming race at Poughkeepsie, the disadvantage is not likely to prove material. This seems the more probable inasmuch as Washington has had experience for a long distance race—three miles against California—whereas the Navy has not rowed races of length greater than a mile and a half.

As to the probable racing form of the two crews, the writer can say nothing concerning Washington, not having seen the eight, but he can say definately that any boat load of young men who leave the Navy trailing this year will have cause for unusual satisfaction, for the 1925 midshipman combination is as fine an eight from the standpoint of rhythm, driving power and racing judgment as any crew he has ever seen.

It appears to bear from every conception of rowing form, the most rigid comparison with the Navy Olympic crew and, saying this, nothing more can be said.

The problem of getting the Navy crew to the Poughkeepsie course next month has been very happily solved through the generosity of Colonel Thompson, head of the 1924 Olympic committee and an alumnus of the naval academy. He has tendered the use of his big steam yacht, the Everglades. The oarsmen will journey to the Hudson in this fine craft and will live aboard her while training for the regatta.

Pennsylvania's showing in the Child's Cup race, which she won very handily, was as great a satisfaction to the Quakers as victory in this classic [illegible] always must be but as planning to the showing she will make at Poughkeepsie it was not very enlightening since neither Princeton nor Columbia has a noteworthy eight this year. Suffice to say that the outfit is certain to exhibit that beautiful form which Jim Rice knows so well how to teach.

SPORT CHATTER

By DAVIS J. WALSH
For International News Service.

NEW YORK, May 27.—Broadway, wise in its patter and unwise in its gambling, has installed Paul Berlenbach a 6 to 5 favorite to beat Mike McTigue at the Milk Fund show on Friday night and take over the light heavyweight championship of the world. The writer thinks Broadway has fouled one into the stands in this instance.

If a hat pin is more effective than a clothes pin, then Mike McTigue should and will do a buck and wing to the decision at the end of fifteen rounds. There doesn't seem to be the slightest reason in the world why a fistic illiterate with the punch of a pile driver should get to a clever man like McTigue at their disposal. But the so-called wise money seems to think otherwise.

It has been fairly showered on Berlenbach's chances and from present indications, a lot of otherwise healthy young men will eat breakfast Saturday morning at Cheerful Charlie's, where the service is quick but queer.

The complex on Berlenbach apparently has been influenced by the fact that McTigue is defending his title to a referee's decision for the first time, and therefore, can't afford to stall his way to the final bell, as had been his wont. They think Mike will be forced into the open and probably he will.

They forget that McTigue can fight when forced to that unpleasant occupation. He says he is prepared to do nothing else on Friday night and if there must be a choice between two determined fighting men, the writer will string along with the one with superior speed and experience. Berlenbach has never beaten a good man; then why McTigue?

Age, they say, will be a factor. If so it will be on the side of McTigue, who has used it to learn much of ring ways and to keep up his condition as a woman guards her complexion. McTigue, according to the best advice, will be absolutely right on Friday. He probably will be so "right" 'that he will stand off Berlenbach's rushes for the first ten rounds and stab off Berlenbach's head for the last five.

MORE DRIVERS IN TEST TO QUALIFY

Leon Duray Gets Pole With Highest Average For Ten-Mile Run

INDIANAPOLIS, May 27.—With seventeen speed merchants already qualified, the balance of the race drivers expecting to take part in Saturday's 500-mile event at this speedway here, this afternoon were to go through the elimination trial.

Prominent in the list of those to take the qualification tests today were Ralph De Palma, veteran pilot, and L. L. Corum of the Boyer-Corum team that won the race last year.

Leon Duray, a "dark horse," cinched the pole position in the front row, by turning in the ten-mile trial contest in 5:18.03 for an average of 113.196 miles an hour, shattering Tommy Milton's record of 108.17 miles an hour made two years ago. Before the seventeen others had finished qualifying five more drivers had eclipsed Milton's record.

REAL ESTATE FOR SALE
GLENDALE PROPERTY

DO NOT PAY RENT—Buy a real home, with only three hundred dollars down and thirty-five dollars a month. Almost new, 4 rooms and garage; cement porch, awnings across front, one of the finest gardens in Glendale; just ready to eat. Two rows of thornless blackberries, vines loaded with fruit. Fruit trees, flowers and lawn. Come quick and look at this. Price $4750.

COME, LOOK AT THIS—A beautiful stream of water running the full length of the lot with large drooping willow trees, lilies, gold fish, rocks and water falls, all kinds of bearing fruit trees, new stucco house, large living rm. with dome ceiling, magnificent view from every window, mountain and valley, very fine homes adjoining; one blk. from L. A. car line and blvd., in beautiful Verdugo Woodlands. Lot 75x185. Owner has gone north and wants to sell. Will take $14,500. Very easy terms. This will not last, as running streams of water are very scarce. See this right now.

3-4 ACRE ESTATE

Nestled among beautiful, large shade trees, palm trees and fruit trees is a 7-room strictly modern home, two blocks from schools and car line in the heart of Glendale. If you want a place to raise fur-bearing rabbits, chickens or pigeons this place will suit you. There are few places like this left in Glendale.

I HAVE SPENT THE PAST WEEK securing acreage for sale in the San Fernando valley. I have found three pieces of 5, 10 and 60 acres in the frostless section, fine orange and lemon groves adjoining. Priced at the low figure of $1000 per acre, with the present development of the valley, values should double in the next year. Now is the time to get located before the rise in prices. Let me show you these and others.

2 ACRES HIGHLY DEVELOPED, corner of beautiful Sherman Way and Los Angeles car line. Six-room modern stucco house. Also a good 4-room house, garage, equipment for 2000 hens, brooder house, complete, full bearing trees, shrubs and flowers. Good income. Owner too old to care for place. Will make a very attractive price or will take exchange, most any desirable location. It will pay you to look at this property.

Mrs. Montgomery Said

"Oh, what a beautiful outlook," as she stood on the front porch of a stucco bungalow we offered at $6750 on easy terms. And she was equally as pleased with the interior arrangement, the five large rooms, the good taste shown in the decorations, and when she raved about the corner breakfast room with its many windows, we knew the sale was as good as made. When Mr. Montgomery came out to O. K. her selection we had to satisfy him as to location and value. It was easy. The close-in northwest with all its building activity, the proximity to the park with its tennis courts and pool, the short distance to transportation and the certainty of greater future value did the trick. Now, best of all, we have another waiting for you to move right into. Call us at once—let us have the pleasure of settling your home hunting troubles.

Rush Rescue Work to Save Entombed Miners

from the state highway department, were ordered to Sanford to take complete charge of rescue operations.

General Metts left with instructions to order out such national guard troops from Raleigh, Red Springs, Raeford and Parkton as is necessary to get the men out.

The men were trapped in an explosion which was almost immediately followed by fire, bureau officials said.

A heavy loss of life is feared because the mine has no facilities for fighting fires and has but one gas mask, it was said by Dr. T. T. Read, safety service director of the bureau.

A rescue car loaded with first-aid equipment and experienced men was immediately prepared at Thomas, W. Va., and J. J. Forbes, engineer of the bureau at Birmingham, Ala., ordered to rush to Thomas to assume charge of the car by 4 p. m. today.

Railroads have been ordered to give the car right-of-way over all traffic and it is expected to reach Raleigh early tomorrow morning.

DEBT FUNDING SETTLEMENT IS UPSET

Chairman Ways And Means Committee Disapproves Plan Of French

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, May 27.—Published reports to the effect that Chairman Green, of the House ways and means committee, after an investigation of Europe's attitude toward the payment of war debts due America, feels no real settlement is in sight caused uneasiness in official quarters today.

Mr. Green disclosed in an interview with a London correspondent of the Baltimore Sun, that France's plan was to ask America to accept a percentage of the receipts from German reparations under the Dawes plan and that, in his opinion, this meant a guarantee by the United States of the collection of money from Germany by France.

This phase of the debt question is not new but the announcement by Mr. Green that he would oppose such a settlement is decidedly new and significant. For the administration had not reckoned on congressional sentiment in advance of a knowledge of the French proposals. Negotiations for a settlement of war debts is a delicate subject at best and at this stage of the conversations it is a matter of serious doubt whether such progress can be made by open announcement of the congressional view.

It so happens, of course, that the World war debt funding commission has in the past taken the position that the debts due the United States from the Allies are not to be considered in relation to sums owed by the Allies to each other or money due from Germany.

But since the Dawes plan was put into operation there has been a feeling that perhaps Congress might consent to an alteration of this view, particularly if the guarantee of payments from Germany were accomplished without American moral or material aid.

There may yet be an opportunity for a settlement through the use of the money to be collected under the Dawes plan. France has had no real difficulty in borrowing money in the United States since the war from private bankers. If the sums due under the Dawes plan are really good assets they will appeal to private bankers as a basis for a loan even more quickly than they would appeal to the World war debt funding commission.

Hunt for Method

If Germany borrowed from the bankers specific sums to be paid the American government and used the reparations receipts as collateral the chances are her borrowing could not be accomplished at a lower rate of interest than she would have to pay the United States government in which case she might prefer to eliminate the intermediary step.

Some method of bridging the gap between German reparations and the debt due America from France can be found if the Dawes plan is really going to work. But at this early date when formal proposals have not yet come from France to the United States government, the point raised by Mr. Green will have an important reaction on the negotiations.

Mr. Green has said bluntly what the American government might have had to say later on if the French proposal involved any guarantee by the United States of the collection of German reparations.

Officials would prefer to have the negotiations conducted without public statements from members of Congress in advance of definite proposals but the viewpoint of Chairman Green will have to be taken into consideration by the commissioners when negotiating with France and it is not inconceivable that Mr. Green's remarks have already been noted by the French government.

Higgins will act on behalf of several insurance companies as well as an assistant prosecutor against the four principals in the case being held in the Hanford jail charged with murder in connection with the mysterious death of Lee Camp, young rancher, on the ranch near here of his foster mother, Mrs. W. GOVERNOR SIGNS OPTOMETRY BILL

Measure Was Storm Center During Last Session; Others Approved

SACRAMENTO, May 27.—Governor Richardson today signed Senate Bill 201, known as the optometry bill, which was passed after one of the most strenuous fights waged during the recent legislative session.

Under the new law physicians, surgeons, oculists and optometrists are authorized to sell ophthalmic lenses. The present statute makes it illegal for anyone not a licensed optometrist to replace lenses or sell lenses. Other bills signed today, follow:

A. B. 1083—Amending the corporate securities act to give the state corporation commissioner control over stock brokers who engage in the sale of stock of foreign corporations.

A. B. 896—Regulating the sale of cold storage food.

A. B. 156—Conferring upon the state industrial accident commission power to prohibit anyone from using machinery which is in a dangerous condition and also to prohibit anyone from working in a place of employment where dangerous conditions prevail.

TWO MEMBERS OF BODY LOSE JOBS

Faulty Measure Ousts Pair On State Civil Service Commission

SACRAMENTO, May 27.—Two members of the State Civil Service commission, Mrs. Cecila Chamberlain of Greenville, and John Galvin of Richmond, will be ousted from their positions, it was learned today, as a result of the signature by Governor Richardson of a faulty bill which was sent down to him for action without amendments incorporated on the final day of the last session of the Legislature.

A. B. 601 provided in its original form for the abolition of two commissionerships, leaving David Reese, executive officer of the civil service board, in sole charge. It also provided a salary increase for Reese.

After a stormy debate in the Senate, during which the bill was denounced, as a "spoils" measure, the act was amended to strike out provisions calling for the abolition of the two offices. The amended bill passed both houses.

COUNCIL TO GET BUDGET TOMORROW

General Expenses of City Will Exceed Half Million, Officials Believe

Requests for the 1925-26 municipal budget, with recommendations by City Manager V. B. Stone, will be presented to the City Council at its meeting tomorrow morning. The budget for the next fiscal year must be adopted by the council by the last Thursday in June.

The final budget is expected to total more than $500,000 for general expenses, with increases in the library and park board budgets bringing the total to more than $1,350,000, including about $800,000 for the public service department.

An additional $55,000 will be required during the next fiscal year to pay for extra electricity used in the ornamental lighting systems installed on various Glendale streets during the past year.

TITLE RIGHTS DISCUSSED AT MEET

Realtors Hear Speakers on Guarantees, Protection To Purchasers

Marsh V. Hartranft of Tujunga, leader of the fight in California against guarantee title companies, and James W. Bell, Los Angeles attorney who is backing the fight as attorney for the State Torrens Title Co., flayed the so-called certificates of title and guarantees of title issued by title companies as containing no protection whatever for the property holder, at the meeting today noon of the Glendale Realty board. More than eighty members of the board and many Glendale business men heard the discussion on Torrens titles as advocated by the speakers.

Fifteen instances under which title ceritificates and insurance certificates do not insure title to the property were quoted by Hartranft. They are: Forged instruments, invalid wills, copyist's errors, illegal trusts, rights of undiscovered heirs, rights under undiscovered wills, instruments executed by minors, instruments executed by insane or incompetent persons, rights of husband and wife in community property, instruments executed by an attorney in fact, whose power was fabricated, instruments executed by an attorney in fact, after the revocation of the power by the principal, or after the death of the principal, or after the principal has become incompetent to contract.

Instruments executed by a person having the same name as that of the real owner but having no interest in the property which is the subject of the instrument.

Rights of persons who were named as defendants in litigation affecting the title, but who did not have proper notice of the proceedings.

Defective probate, divorce, foreclosure, quiet title, partition, and other court proceedings.

Jeopardize Land

"Under those fifteen limitations the home and land investments of California are in constant jeopardy. This is a new land comparatively. The records are full of defective proceedings that are constantly cropping up," declared the speaker.

"Forgery of deeds and mortgages gives indication of becoming a great epidemic. It is so easy to accomplish. A stranger can go to a town and register under the name of some absentee land owner, opens a bank account and gets himself established under that name. Secure a large loan on the property by easy misrepresentation and abscound for parts unknown before it is possible to detect him. Such cases are numerous within ten miles of Glendale."

Hardtranft and Attorney Bell urged that compulsory use of Torrens titles in California be brought about by an initiative measure voted by the people. They stressed the protection of Torrens titles guaranteed by a large state fund and backed by the honor of integrity of the state itself.

Hardtranft predicted a "great upheaval when the people come to realize that banks throughout the state are upholding thousands of titles issued by private title companies which give utterly no protection to the rightful owner of the property." Some banks are even now refusing to accept any but Torrens titles, he declared.

DIRECT SHIP TO SEARCH FOR MEN

Fur Vessel Crew Will Try to Secure Trace of Polar Aviators

SAN FRANCISCO, May 27.—The first definite step towards locating the Amundsen aerial polar expedition and determining whether or not the polar flyers have landed in Alaska was under way late today.

Arnold Liebes of H. Liebes Co., furriers, wirelessed the Liebes' fur ship Charles Brower, now off St. Lawrence island in the Bering sea, to proceed to Point Hope and endeavor to secure trace of Amundsen and his companions.

Ice in Passage

The master of the ship replied that ice in Bering straits piled up by a north gale was preventing passage, but that as soon as possible he would make the 300-mile journey which will require at least four days.

Liebes said Amundsen would likely proceed to Point Hope from Point Barrows if he made a landing in Alaska and hoped to have the ship pick the party up there.

NEW YORK CLOSING

By W. S. COUSINS
For International News Service

NEW YORK, May 27.—The stock market displayed conspicuous strength in some departments today, and in numerous issues recorded the highest price for the year in some of the best-known stocks. As a rule, the new gains were well retained, though profit-taking and short selling were in evidence when the active industrial and motor shares reached the higher levels, and the professional traders appeared to be more cautious in pushing prices beyond the previous levels.

The advance of Maxwell "B" to above par for the first time in its history was a feature of the motor group. This stock, which sold as low as 10¼ last year, has reflected in its market course the enormous gain in profits of the Maxwell company through the popularity of its Chrysler car and the ambitious plans recently put through for the reorganization of the company. Since all but a small number of shares of this stock have consented to the plan of exchange for Chrysler corporation stock, there has been a limited number of shares for the market floating supply. Studebaker moved forward impressively to a new high at 49, where heavy selling orders were encountered.

Professional traders were generally in control of the market movement of the bulk of the specialty stocks. Prices were whipped up to new high levels during the early trading in a concentrated drive against the shorts, after which there was a general scramble to sell at the higher prices. Baldwin, General Electric, American Can and Savage Arms gained from 1 to 5 points, only to lose the best part of their advance. From the lower levels another rally developed in the fourth hour.

The steel trade authorities reported that steel production was practically adjusted to demand, with a more stable situation in prices of the three leading products, namely, plates, shapes and bars. There was a better tone to the copper stocks with a slight stiffening of prices in raw and a strong forward movement in the leading copper stocks, led by American Smelting. The crude oil and gasoline situation in mid-continent and eastern consuming points firmed up and oil stocks were inclined to move upward as a result.

Month-end settlements in the money market withdrew a portion of funds from the call loan market, and rates were firm around 4 per cent. Time money rates were unchanged, as also was the bankers' acceptance market.

Spectacular forward price movements in a number of the motor stocks and a general firming of the oil and industrial stocks featured the closing period. Rails were also strong.

Mack Trucks advanced 4 points to a new record high price of 184⅞; Pierce-Arrow preferred at 74½, showed a gain of 5 points; Maxwell "B" was up 6 points at 104¼; General Motors and Studebaker fell behind and sold fractionally lower. Reading led the rails with again of 2½ points, to 85¼. Independent oil & Gas and Cast Iron Pipe, two of the so-called Durant stocks, pushed forward in good form in this period, Cast Iron Pipe reaching 157½, up 3 points. Mercantile and specialty stocks were generally in decline near the close.

Stock sales today, 1,538,500 shares; bonds, $14,682,000.

During 1924 taxes charged to operation amounted to $1,572,930.75, and for 1923 to $1,483,164.97. Deducting the taxes leaves operating income of $2,862,213.97 for 1924, and $4,490,469.14 for 1923. Adding to the operating income, the non-operating income of the company results in a gross corporate income (which represents the amount available for interest, amortization of debt discount, other fixed charges, non-operating expenses, dividends and surplus) of $3,641,650.14 for 1924, and $4,813,469.48 for 1923.

PROBE RUMORED

CHICAGO, May 27.—Information that the Chicago board of trade has been under secret investigation by department of justice agents during the last weeks, in which various charges of artificial price manipulation have been voiced and denied, trickled out here today coincident with the announcement that Secretary of Agriculture Jardine would visit the board and confer with the directors tomorrow.

The directors denied, however, that they had any knowledge or expectancy that Jardine would demand a "house cleaning." They also characterized as absurd a persistent report that threats of revoking their charter unless conditions on the board were remedied had been made.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, May 27.—Grains worked lower in the later trading today and were generally off at the close. Wheat finished ½c higher to ¾c off; corn, 1@1½c lower, and oats, ⅛@¾c lower. The buying, which temporarily firmed wheat prices in midday after price recessions brought by profit-taking, thinned out as the session progressed, and the market sagged again. Corn averaged lower in slow trade all day. Oats trade was quiet and price changes small. Provisions firmed up in later trade and closed higher.

Hopes Are Given for Flyers to North Pole

searchers after Amundsen. It will be, they said, at least several days more before the government will consider steps to be taken to determine what has happened to the flyers.

Great interest was displayed here in reports from the United States quoting Bernard Prentice, brother-in-law of Ellsworth, as saying that Ellsworth had said the party might go to Alaska if it succeeded in making a successful flight to the pole.

Scientists pointed out that Amundsen and his party were well supplied with food and clothing and would have every opportunity to make a safe journey back on foot in case of accident to the two airplanes.

Prestrud, one of Amundsen's colleagues on the South pole expedition, said he had not given up hope and would not, even if several months passed without news. He recalled that three days were found necessary to fix the position of the South pole. He believes, he said, it would take a similar length of time to fix the position of the North pole, where conditions, he thinks, are more difficult.

Prestrud does not see why Amundsen should not overcome all difficulties, even if he has to march afoot, as did Nansen.

Visitor To Far North Feels No Fear For Men

NEW YORK, May 27.—It is far too early to be apprehensive for the safety of Captain Roald Amundsen and his five associates in the airplane flight to the pole, is the opinion of Albert Operati, vice-president of the Arctic club of America. Operati accompanied Peary on two trips to the frozen north.

Amundsen and his men are perfectly safe; they have discovered new land and are taking their time to make observations, Operati gave as his belief in an interview today.

"The public expects results too quickly," he said. "One can't rush right up to the pole and rush right back again. There is no anxiety, at least for a month or so. Furthermore, it is hardly logical that with two airplanes and six men that all six have perished.

"If anything happened to the planes the party probably is marching back over the ice. If they found the pole, they probably are coming back by way of Behring straits."

Norway's unemployed now number less than 20,000, with the ranks dwindling.

CHINESE STRIKE

TOKIO, May 27.—Uneasiness was felt here today over an ugly situation which has arisen at Tsintao as a result of a strike of Chinese employes against Japanese mill owners. A Japanese boycott is feared. The Tsintao Chamber of Commerce has asked the Japanese government to send additional police and a warship to protect Japanese citizens.

CHOCOLATE KIDS

BERLIN, May 27.—German newspapers today characterized the American negroes "American children of Israel," following the simultaneous and heartily welcomed presentations of the Chocolate Kids, a negro jazz band, and the negro folk songs of the Fisk Institute singers.

Dollar Day—Dollar Day—Dollar Day

And such a wonderful Dollar Day is in store for our hundreds of patrons of Glendale and its vicinity. We have worked for the biggest day in the history of this business and we believe that we will more than succeed, as we have values such as we never offered before and we believe our friends will acknowledge we have had some astounding values in the past, but as usual, "Cash Buying and Cash Selling" has made the offerings for Thursday possible.
